A Shudder From Miami

From Miami, Florida, comes a sordid, shuddering story of great pathos. A young girl, just 7, recovering from operations and a long illness; entering hopelessly into a long delayed promise of health, was stolen from her unlocked home, left open for a nightclubbing father's return. Her battered and torn body, cruelly and brutally used by a lust-driven, demonic personality, was found close by a bench near the home. It is a new story, yet an old one.

Next week some other city will produce a similar one. The week after that still another.

There is a river of crime, turpid and ugly, on which drift things horrible, obscene, pitiful and frightful to behold, which runs through our night and day. It never stops flowing. And of all the dreadful things of prey which swim in it none is worse than the child molester...

"Tiger! Tiger! burning bright
In the forests of the night,
What immortal hand or eye
Could frame thy fearful symmetry?"

"What the hammer? what the chain?
In what furnace was thy brain?
What the anvil? What dread grasp
Dares its deadly terrors clasp?"

"When the stars threw down their spears
And watered heaven with their tears,
Did he smile his work to see?
Did he who made the Lamb make thee?"

"Tiger! Tiger! burning bright
In the forests of the night,
What immortal hand or eye
Dare frame thy fearful symmetry?"

The Tigers

Few there are, walking through the paths of their ordered lives, who are aware of the forests of the night, and of the evil river of wickedness and crime which flows through it. No mortal hand or eye can frame the fearful symmetry of the man who stole the sleeping child and used her so wickedly. And none will know, save a merciful God, the pitiful terror and agony of the child so fearfully tortured.

But police everywhere know the tigers... including those whose symmetry is so twisted they can kill a struggling child to satisfy their compulsive lust. The Miami police went right away and rounded up almost 100 "known molesters of children and pervers, or sex deviants with criminal tendencies."

Police in all cities know that among their known child molesters are some who will, eventually, kill or terribly use a child.

Next?

The law enforcement officers are understandably cynical about it. They know that while any person with leprosy, for example, is frantically taken up and deposited in some isolated spot and confined there until death or cure brings release, that a child molester is usually fined modestly and released. And leprosy is not easily communicated. Typhoid carriers, those suffering from polio, smallpox, diphtheria and other ills are quarantined for the safety of the public.

The police in New York, in Miami, in Boston, in Los Angeles—and all cities in between and beyond—know that a certain percentage of the known sex deviant and child molester tigers in their towns will, in the near future, destroy a child. They know it for sure.

They also know that society, which is terribly agitated over the torn and ghastly-used body of a dead child, is not very interested in a child attacked by a molester if the child is not killed or wounded. If the child suffers merely a shock which will distort its life and leave a mental scar for life, society is not aroused. We wait for the kill, then kill one of the hurtful tigers with the chair or noose—and wait for the next child to die.

Society's one day may do something about letting potential killers roam loose—"known and listed." But, not for a long time. The tigers are relatively safe in the forest of the night.

Negroes Given Golfing Right on Segregated Basis

By ALEX JOINER JR.

Atlanta must allow Negroes to use its public golf courses but may do so on a segregated basis, U.S. Dist. Judge Boyd Sloan ruled Thursday, and a City Hall spokesman said the courses probably will be opened to Negroes two days a week on a segregated basis.

Phone Taps Given Ala. Vice Probe

COLUMBUS, July 8 (AP)—A mysterious "Mister X" has turned over to the Russell County Betterment Assn. more than 200 recordings purported to be of telephone conversations between Hoyt Shepherd and high public officials in both Alabama and Georgia.

New jury commission named for Russell County. Story on Page 7.

Russell County and Columbus, Shepherd has a record as a gambler but has claimed in recent years he's no longer in that business.

RATED AS POWERFUL The recordings, which have been given to investigators of the Albert L. Patterson murder case, are said by the RBA to disclose many sensational behind-the-scenes "deals and fixes" involving Shepherd and public officials in Phenix City and Russell County.

Involved are conversations between Shepherd and a member of the Columbus City Commission showing a close liaison in political matters and an intimate relationship, according to the RBA.

An RBA source called the records "the most powerful ammunition" ever received in the anti-crime organization's long fight against Phenix City racketeers.

"We believe that every public official in Russell County who has received aid and comfort from gambler Hoyt Shepherd will be named," the RBA spokesman declared.

MENTIONS BIG BOSS "If these officials knew the information disclosed in these recordings they would resign immediately," he added.

In one conversation between Shepherd and a law enforcement deputy of Russell County, a story of grand jurors being contacted about their stand on a criminal case is revealed, according to the RBA.

In this conversation, Shepherd mentions "the big boss upstairs," the RBA said. The enforcement officer tells of speaking to grand

House Decides Peacetime Spies Should Get Death

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—The House voted today to make peacetime spying punishable by death as it passed and sent to the Senate a bill drastically stiffening the espionage and sabotage laws.

Passage was unanimous by a 323-0 rollcall vote. The House first beat by a 67-29 standing vote an amendment by Rep. Rogers (D-Texas) to apply the death penalty to sabotage as well as espionage.

Churchmen Suspend Craft, Found Guilty

By LAURA BARRE

A 13-member jury of Methodist ministers Thursday found the Rev. Blake Craft of Clayton guilty of two charges and sentenced him to suspension from the ministry until the 1955 meeting of the North Georgia Methodist Annual Conference next June.

The Rev. Mr. Craft, 52, was convicted of "un-Christian temper, words or actions," and "imprudent or unministerial conduct." He was acquitted of a charge of "disobedience to the order and discipline of the church."

The charges against the Rev. Mr. Craft had revolved generally around a monthly, tabloid paper, "One Methodist Voice," which he edits and publishes, and in which he has been accused of "slandering his ministerial brethren" with "various unfounded charges," including charges of Communist activity.

STRESS ANTI-RED STAND

In their statement the jurors said "We the trial court recognize the right of the individual as an American citizen and minister in the Methodist church. We are not in opposition to the Rev. L. Blake Craft publishing a paper, nor his personal fight against communism, for which he is not charged. We point out, also, that the Methodist church is definitely against communism."

The statement then named the charges on which the defendant was convicted and said "We specifically use of One Methodist Voice as a means to attack personally his brother ministers, to discredit the leadership of his conference and to confuse the laymen of the church, creating doubt in their minds by the dissemination of inflammatory writings."

SIX-DAY SESSION

The Rev. J. Foster Young, pastor of Atlanta's Kirkwood Methodist Church, was foreman of the jury. The Rev. Frank G. Echols, pastor of St. James Church, Augusta, was secretary. The verdict was read by the Rev. Mr. Echols.

The conviction came at the end of the sixth day's session of the trial.

Quiz Vagrants As Child Kidnap Victim Is Buried

MIAMI, July 8 (AP)—Detectives questioned child molesters and vagrants by the dozens today in their search for the rapist-killer of 7-year-old Judith Ann Roberts whose mutilated body was buried in private cemeteries.

Detective Lt. Chester Eldredge disclosed that all the men picked up were released during the day except three, who were held for further questioning.

Judith Ann's parents, James T. and Shirley Roberts, sobbed throughout the Hobbes review.

"Why? Why? Why did this terrible thing happen to my child?" Mrs. Roberts cried.

Ike Asked To Confer If Reds Seated

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee tentatively approved a proposal today requesting that President Eisenhower consult with Congress on foreign policy changes if Communist China is admitted to the United Nations.

The watered-down proposal was approved 6-to-0 as an amendment to the committee's foreign aid bill shortly after Secretary of State Dulles asserted that this country will use its veto to keep Red China off the U.N. Security Council.

"CERTAIN" Dulles told a news conference, however, that he is certain the Peiping regime will not be admitted to the world organization and that there will be no occasion for a U.S. walkout as demanded by Senate Republican Leader Knowland.

The proposal for "consultation" was worked out by Knowland after conferences with key Democrats. It was far weaker than the California Republican's original demand for the United States to quit the U.N. the minute Red China gets in.

The amendment also restates Congress' opposition to admission of the Peiping government to the world organization.

Knowland told newsmen he is confident his proposal will win overwhelming endorsement in the Senate. The plan makes no specific recommendation for steps the President should take other than to consult with Congress.

OKAYED BY GEORGE Sens. George (D-Ga.) and Fulbright (D-Ark.), both of whom had opposed Knowland's demand for an advance commitment to quit the world body if the Reds are admitted, said they had no objection to Knowland's proposal.

The committee action was not final because only six of the 13 members were present.

Dulles' views, given at a news conference, reinforced Eisenhower's statement Wednesday that he is "unilaterally opposed" to Communist China's admission to the world body.

It was the first time, however, that the U.S. government has openly threatened to use its veto to bar the Peiping regime from the Security Council.

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell charged tonight that Sen. McCarthy put himself "above the law" in urging federal employees to bring him secret information despite a presidential ban.

Brownell made the statement in an ABC television interview.

HEADS HAND CAMPAIGN. Roy V. Harris.

Roy Harris Heads Hand Campaign

Roy V. Harris, Augusta political leader who has guided the successful campaigns of four gubernatorial candidates in past years, will manage a House Speaker Fred Hand's campaign for governor.

This was announced Thursday by Hand. He also said he will open his campaign headquarters at the Henry Grady Hotel Tuesday, and will list assistant campaign managers at that time.

Harris, who preceded Hand as House Speaker, said he is supporting Hand "because his record stands out like a shining jewel." He said the Pelham businessman will give the state "clear-headed leadership" and that Hand can be depended upon to manage the state's affairs "in a business-like manner and free of all graft and corruption."

Harris said Hand's 22 years' legislative experience have given him an intimate knowledge of state affairs. He reported that Hand has run the $200,000 school building program without the slightest suggestion of mismanagement or corruption. If Hand is governor, there will be no juggling of highway contracts and no "shenanigans in the purchasing department," Harris predicted.

Harris began his string of victorious campaigns in 1936. He managed Gov. Rivers' 1936 and 1938 campaigns. He was associated with Ellis Arnall in his winning campaign in 1942, and with the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge in his successful campaign in 1946. He was a leader in both of Herman Talmadge's winning campaigns. Earlier in his career, Harris worked in Sen. George's successful campaign in 1926 and managed Rivers' unsuccessful gubernatorial bid in 1928.

Fire Away For 350 at Dodge Rally

By DERICK DANIELS

Constitution Staff Writer

RHINE, July 8—Gubernatorial candidates Charles Gowen and Marvin Griffin slanted their political shots on candidate Tom Linder Thursday at a rally here. Both aimed a drumfire at Linder's three-school plan for maintaining segregation.

Linder, also appearing at the rally, was the only candidate, however, interrupted by applause from a stony-faced audience of about 350.

Sponsoring Lions Club officials kept a stopwatch on the Rhine rally. Each speaker was allowed 15 minutes. Also on the platform were candidates Ben Garland, Edmund Barfield and Arthur H. Neeson. Mrs. Grace Thomas of Decatur, running on a pledge to abide by the Supreme Court's anti-segregation ruling, wired at the last moment that she would be unable to appear. Kankakee (Buck) Anderson of Cedarhurst spoke for candidate M. E. Thompson.

POINTED REFERENCE

Gowen was the first to lose a pointed reference to Linder although he did not mention the agricultural commissioner by name. Gowen was discussing his plan to maintain segregated schools by allowing superintendents to assign children to classrooms. He said:

"We are going to solve this school problem without stirring up racial hatred... without calling on inmates of Milledgeville to operate a third school system."

Griffin followed up Gowen by saying, "when I am governor, not one nickel will be spent for any mixed school, psychiatrists for the third school system notwithstanding." Both Gowen and Griffin drew light applause before and after their addresses.

FORCED INDOORS

Linder, following them to the rostrum after rain had driven the crowd indoors from the schoolhouse lawn, attacked the Talmadge-sponsored private school plan backed by Griffin.

He said the people of Georgia are not willing to surrender the public schools for which they have spent hundreds of millions of dollars.

Linder repeated his plan to give

Ely Orders Defense of Hanoi Area

HANOI, Indochina, July 8.—Gen. Paul Ely, French Union commander-in-chief in Indochina, said today he has ordered an all-out defense of Hanoi, the seaport of Haiphong, and the vital supply route connecting them.

Ely denied emphatically to newsmen rumors that Hanoi would be abandoned to the Communist-led Vietminh without a fight.

He added that if he did not believe this focal point of the war in northern Indochina could be defended against the Vietminh divisions threatening it, he would not have repeated his previous orders for its defense after returning from conferences in Paris last Sunday.

The general declared he had ordered the recent withdrawal of French Union troops from the southern third of the Red River Delta in order to build up the Hanoi Haiphong defenses.

Ely predicted a decision will be reached within 12 days on whether there will be war or a cease fire in Indochina.

Arms Bought Behind Iron Curtain Proved Duds, Guatemala Army Says

By SYDNEY GRUSON
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

MEXICO CITY, July 8.—According to Guatemalan army officers, some of the arms shipped recently from behind the Iron Curtain to Guatemala were duds, worn out or entirely wrong for use there.

The fact that the arms were useless was one of the important reasons why the Guatemalan Army failed to put up any worthwhile resistance to Col. Carlos Castillo Armas' rebel forces, these sources said.

Graham Tells Ike Curtain Admits Gospel

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Evangelist Billy Graham visited President Eisenhower today and said the religious reawakening he believes is taking place in the United States and Europe also is penetrating the Iron Curtain.

The young preacher reported to President Eisenhower on his recent five-month preaching tour, during which he addressed 2,500,000 Europeans. He told the President the new upsurge of interest in religion will have a healthy effect on the social, political and moral life of the people and that international affairs will benefit thereby.

Earlier he told a press conference that he heard "amazing stories" in Europe about secret religious meetings being held in Communist countries. He said a leading Swedish clergyman told him he believed "the greatest religious movement of all time could take place in Russia."

Graham emphasized that his preaching to great throngs overseas didn't "save Europe." The spiritual rebirth, he said, was already taking place when his team arrived.

Graham plans to go to Asheville, N.C., for a physical examination to see what treatment is required for several kidney stone attacks he suffered while abroad. Then he will rest several weeks.

Nehru Urges Princes Give 15 Pct. to People

BOMBAY, India, July 8.—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has suggested that wealthier Indian princes donate 15 per cent of their private purses for the welfare of the people in states they formerly ruled, reports from Hyderabad said today.

The proposal was reported included in a circular to the princes as a substitute for Nehru's former request that they agree to a voluntary cut in the income they receive from the government.

Guatemalan Army took the field against rebel forces, the sources declared. Guatemalan officers quit the battlefield and went home after seeing the futility of trying to fight with the new weapons.

Almost all the arms were described as German weapons captured by the Russians in World War II. There were a few Czech machine guns that would not work and a few British rifles also. The Guatemalans are reported to have paid five to ten million dollars for the 2,000-ton shipment.

There were heavy cannon made to roll down the wide German superhighways. The Guatemalan Army could never get them near the jungle mule trails where the battles were started. The guns never were brought into action; besides the barrels were worn out.

The largest part of the shipment consisted of anti-tank mines. Not only were there no tanks used in the recent revolution, but tanks could not have been used if they had been available.

Furthermore, according to persons who recently arrived here after having sat through the revolution in the city of Guatemala, this huge quantity of worthless explosives became a headache for the Guatemalan Army when the fighting began.

They had been stored in an army barracks, building called the Guardia De Honor, in the middle of the city's best residential section.

When air raids began, army leaders were terrified at the possibility of a direct hit on the Guardia De Honor, which was a natural target because explosion of the arsenal would have blown up half the city.

During the nightly blackouts the army had to devote trucks and troops to the task of transferring the mines to two fortresses, Matamoros and Aceituno, which are on the edge of the capital.

Since none of the arms Guatemala so desperately bought behind the Iron Curtain could be used, the army had only its rusty, obsolete and inadequate weapons to fight with.

GUATEMALA CITY, July 8.—Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, of Guatemala's restive anti-Communist rebels, was proclaimed provisional president today in a shakeup that reduced the ruling military junta from five members to three.

An official announcement said Castillo was elected unanimously by the five-man junta. After the vote, Lt. Col. Jose L. Cruz Salazar and Mauricio DuBois resigned from the group, which is acting both as government and congress pending ratification of a new constitution.

Col. Eliego H. Monzon, who was provisional president until today's vote, and rebel Maj. Enrique T. Oliva will continue to serve with Castillo on the junta.

Let's Root Out Any Political Shakedown

Gov. Herman Talmadge has supported House Speaker Fred Hand, a candidate for governor in the September primary, in Hand's demand that there be an immediate halt to what the speaker charges is coercion of state employees in contributing to campaign funds.

Candidate Hand did not name the candidate for whom the funds were being coerced, but did say that he had made his demand to Albert Dozier, of the Sales Tax Unit. Mr. Dozier, who reportedly is supporting Lt. Governor Marvin Griffin, denied he had threatened or intimidated anybody to obtain contributions.

On the other hand, the Hand charges had further substantiation from Revenue Commissioner Charles Redwine. The commissioner previously had said he had been "getting about the same report" (of coercion), and that he had "issued drastic orders that the practice be discontinued at once."

Mr. Hand said some state employees had told him they were being assessed a flat amount with a threat of being fired if they did not comply promptly. He said the unnamed candidate's supporters were also saying that Gov. Talmadge wishes all employees to contribute.

Gov. Talmadge has hailed this as a malicious falsehood. He is not publicly or privately supporting any candidate. The governor called on any state employee so coerced to report the facts to him and said such practice will be stopped immediately if he finds such activities are going on.

In his capacity as Speaker of the House, Fred Hand promises a legislative investigation.

Certainly this newspaper supports the position taken by the governor, by Commissioner Redwine and Candidate Hand. By all means let some of those who know come forward, in the best interests of the state, and let the grand jury in Fulton County have the facts as well. It is a reprehensible practice and should be halted if it is, as charged, going on.

Golf Course Ruling Adds to Confusion

United States District Court Judge Boyd Sloan Thursday ruled that Negroes must be allowed "a substantially equal use of existing golf facilities" on Atlanta's seven municipal golf courses.

The injunction will become effective only on a further order from Judge Sloan, and then only if he considers a reasonable enough time has elapsed for the city to be prepared to comply with his ruling. Therefore, there is no immediacy.

The ruling by Judge Sloan, who is from Gainesville, Ga., further illustrates what is an almost paradoxical development in the recent U. S. Supreme Court ruling against segregation. The court ruled at the time that a Texas public golf course could be maintained on a segregated basis if Negroes were permitted separate but equal use of the facilities. In other words, colored people could play a specific number of days and white persons an equal number on the same course, without violating the ruling against discrimination.

Presumably, in the case of schools, segregation could be maintained by the two races using the same school facilities for alternate periods of time. This, of course, further confuses the picture. Not until after the court has heard further argument in the school segregation cases before it, involving four states and the District of Columbia, will there be specific rulings shedding further light on the recent Supreme Court ruling, which laid down the principle that segregation on the basis of color violates the 14th amendment and is, therefore, unconstitutional.

In Louisiana and Texas certain public golf courses have already been opened to Negroes on the basis of "substantially equal" use of the public facilities. The Atlanta case is being studied. If other Southern cities have worked it out satisfactorily, there is no reason why it cannot be done here. The thoughtful and patriotic citizen will continue to keep his feet on the ground.

Dr. Weinberger Found Many a Fine New Peach

Dr. J. H. Weinberger of Fort Valley is not one of Georgia's most widely known citizens, although he ranks high on the list of the state's most important men.

For 18 years he has been horticulturist at the U. S. Department of Agriculture's field laboratory in the heart of the Peach State's peach belt. During that period he has developed strain after strain of new peaches, always seeking the perfect one.

Many of the Weinberger introductions are being produced on a commercial scale, and a great part of the income of Georgia peach growers is directly attributable to the horticulturist's work. The state's pre-eminence as a peach producer is not based entirely on quantity but on quality, and partly on its ability to get to the market first with the best. Weinberger-bred peaches range from the earliest to the latest and include the Dixigem, one of the most popular of them all.

Dr. Weinberger is being transferred to California, where he will continue his work with the Department of Agriculture. He will take with him the best wishes and gratitude of all Georgia for his contribution to the state has been a great one.

Sen. George Adds Voice To the Side of Reason

Add the voice of Sen. Walter George to those urging caution in setting a fixed course of action should Red China be admitted to the United Nations.

The Georgian, veteran member of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, said yesterday that the United States should not "predetermine" what it will do if the Peiping regime is seated over American opposition.

As he has been so many times, Sen. George is right. There have been entirely too many rigid stands in this cold war struggle from which we have had to retreat. The State Department's most recent somersault over Indochina is a case in point.

Decisions on foreign policy should be based on hard-headed reasoning about what is best for the security of this country. The latter demands that these decisions be based on facts, not emotion. Even majority opinion is not always right in the light of later developments.

Pollution of Air Is Problem of All Cities

The air we breathe has a lot to do with the way we feel.

Country and sea air is the cure for a lot of the ills of city people. Urban dwellers not only build up urban attitudes, but develop urban ailments such as diseases of the respiratory tract.

Atlanta's air, which isn't bad for a city its size, is under study now by the government. The city is one of 20 places where air samples are being taken to determine its organic content.

The air is trapped by filters in the heart of downtown, and another set of filters in the suburbs. When the project is complete Atlantans will know such things as the pollen count, and the amount of solid particles such as dust from streets in the air they breathe.

The results will be interesting to those with hay fever, allergies and other irritations that seem to clear up within 48 hours after leaving town.

Smoke abatement has been a continuing civic project for many years. Atlanta's air once was as infamous as that of Pittsburgh or St. Louis. Slowly but surely, its pollution is being controlled. It is only a question of time until it will be almost as good to breathe as it was when only a few Indians camped here.

Despite All the Veneer We're a Violent People

For all our veneer of civilization, Americans are a violent people. Our crime rate, including homicides, is the highest in the world.

Latest example is provided by the Tuesday election in Oklahoma. In order to insure balloting free of irregularities, the National Guard had to be called out in five counties. Even after almost two centuries, this vital aspect of the democratic process must be policed.

There are those who point to such occurrences as heralding the downfall of orderly democratic government. Others point out that these recurring incidents, as well as our general disregard for law and order, are expressions of the American will to independence and testify to the vigor of the people.

Perhaps some middle ground between the two views is the answer. Our violence is tempered with tolerance, heritage of the frontier spirit in which the two rode side by side.

There are many disgraceful chapters in American history but many more brilliant episodes that prove we are a great people. We can never be proud, however, of the continuing record of crime and violence that seems to stay with us each passing decade.

National Park Visitors Can Aid Foresters By Cleaning Up Picnic Areas After Use

Atlanta—I enjoyed Celestine Sibley's column on diversified swimming, and hasten to assure her she is not alone in her devotion to country creeks and lakes.

Definite evidence of that is contained in the fact that visitors at U. S. Forest Service recreation areas in the Southern Region increased from an annual average of 655,855 during the five-year period, 1935-39, to a 4,841,014 yearly average for the last four years 1950-53. Indications are that 1954's visitations will not reduce this last-period average.

Such popularity of course, poses a problem which she also emphasized admirably, with her final sentence as the punch line. If all visitors of these areas would do as she did—pick up a basketful of cans and papers and burn them before leaving—less of money and time would be needed for the currently heavy job of policing these areas and more could be devoted to maintaining the facilities in a state of greater usefulness and beauty for the ever-increasing numbers of visitors.

Currently, we have available for development, maintenance, and clean-up of recreation areas, 2.2 cents for each of the five-million people who visit them.

CHAS. A. CONNAUGHTON, Regional Forester, U. S. Forest Service.

Does the Fig Tree Have Consciousness?

Thomaston—I quote from Charles L. Allen's column of July 2 in The Atlanta Constitution:

"And as Jesus stood before the fig tree—a tree that was supposed to have fruit but had only leaves—He condemned it to death."

I quote from the Bible: "And seeing a fig tree afar off having leaves, He came, if haply He might find anything thereon: And when He came to it, He found nothing but leaves; for the time of figs was not yet. And Jesus answered and said unto it, 'No man eat fruit of thee hereafter forever.' And His disciples heard it."

"And Peter, calling to remembrance, saith unto Him, 'Master, behold, the fig tree which thou cursedst is withered away.'" — Mark 11:13, 14 and 21.

Even if it had been the time of figs (the Bible says it wasn't) and the fig tree had been devoid of fruit, these questions arise: Does a fig tree have consciousness, intelligence and will power, and can it exercise power over its development as to fruition, choosing for itself whether or not it will bear figs? Can a member of the vegetable kingdom sin, through error of omission or otherwise?

Her Daughter Found; Mother Sends Thanks

Atlanta—I am the mother of Joyce Lancaster who was missing from our New Orleans home since June 29.

I want to thank Sgt. Blackwell, Sgt. Goodwyn, Officers McFarland and Jones of the Atlanta Police Department, Sgt. Martin Crean, CID of Atlanta General Depot, Mrs. Leoto of Travelers Aid, room clerk Jackson of The Hampton Hotel, Ben Gunn, newscaster, The Atlanta Constitution, the employees of the Dinkler-Plaza Hotel and all the others who have shown the most consideration, kindness and concern in my time of distress.

Joyce is safely with me now and I will always remember all of your kindnesses. This experience has been a great lesson in charity to my fellow man.

Gainesville Reader Cites Bible Verses

Gainesville—In your June 29 paper, H. H. Strong stated that he had studied the Bible for forty years. I don't believe he studied his Bible very closely.

If he will read Genesis 13th chapter and Numbers 1st chapter, he will see that both chapters speak of separation of the tribes to keep down trouble.

The Supreme Court ruling is no law as long as we have a governor that will keep Georgia's Constitution as it is; according to the State's Rights.

McCarthy Defended As Good American

Chicago, Ill.—For a long time I've been reading articles against Senator McCarthy and his methods and how "he used improper pressure to secure a commission for Pvt. Schine."

I think all those writings come from misinformed people or else from people who know they will not be able to buy McCarthy as they bought other government officials in the near past.

Frankly, I think Senator McCarthy is a darn good American, a man with guts and plenty of them, and it is a shame to see him being persecuted for having done a great service to his country... the service of alerting the American people to America's domestic enemies.

JUAN M. RAMOS.

Philadelphia Inquirer

Friends of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York declare he is definitely going to retire at the close of his present term, and that he will not accept any high federal office from President Eisenhower. With the highest regard for Governor Dewey's friends, no one "in the know" politically, is going to take such a "decision" from anybody but Dewey himself. And Dewey himself merely says he is "weighing" his political future.

It Is Politics Now From Saturday On

It's high ho and away we go for a season of politicking. The sun bears down, the drought is on, and it is gnat and tobacco time in South Georgia. In the mountains to the north it is hot in the sun, cool in the shade, and the nights are fresh with dew.

The cooler the shade though, the hotter is the bite of the mountain chigger.

In the middle of the state it is peaches and pines and cotton and dust. Along the roads everywhere fruit is for sale, and watermelons and cantaloupes, too. Cool comfort, every one, for tired and dusty throats; nature's specific for heat.

From north to south, from east to west it will be oratory from dawn to dusk, and late into the night. There are 159 counties in which to speak, and nine candidates to do the speaking. If each candidate makes a speech in each county, and certainly all should if they are serious, that makes 1,431 speeches right there. And that is only the beginning.

If each candidate has a friend in each county, the friend can be counted on for speeches too. Nine times 159 times nine again begins to stretch toward infinity, and that doesn't count the friends of the friends of the candidates. All of them are sure to say something if they can find a captive audience.

The state will be awash with words when it's rain we really need, and the air will be filled with sound instead of thunderheads. Radios will carry the candidates' voices (there are nine of them, don't forget), into the remotest cove of the farthest hills and into the deepest shadows of the darkest swamps. Television too has been added, and by September the voter will be as aware of the nine faces as he is of the nine voices and the nine platforms.

The issue? The United States Supreme Court decided that point when it ruled against segregation in the public schools. So far the boys and the one woman in the race are yet to get around to charging chicanery and finagling in high

Martha Had Faith In Lord's Power

When Jesus finally came to Bethany where Lazarus had died, we read that "Martha, as soon as she heard that Jesus was coming, went and met Him" (John 11:20). That is wonderful. While her brother was sick she had sent word to Christ and had expected Him to do something. Instead, He delayed coming until it seemed it was now too late. Death had beat Him there. Yet, in spite of that, Martha was not bitter.

She might have said, "I refuse to ever speak to Christ again. He failed me when I asked His help." But he didn't say that. In my years as a minister I have come to know people in almost every condition. Many will bring tears of sympathy to your eyes. But the most pitiful, hopeless creature I have ever met is one who has allowed a sorrow make him bitter.

Her first words to Him were: "If thou hadst been here, my brother had not died." Many times we feel that our troubles are a sign that God has forgotten us. Many couples can say, "Lord, if thou hadst been in our home, it would not have been broken." Many defeated, miserable people can say, "Lord, if thou hadst been in my life, things would have been different." But in cases like that, the reason of His absence was because they refused to let Him come in. God never forsakes us. We forsake Him.

N. J. GOP Nominee Jumps Out on Limb

WASHINGTON—The first Republican nominee for a seat in the U. S. Senate to stick his neck out on the McCarthy issue is Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, formerly a member of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Case says in a prepared statement that if elected he will not only vote against continuing the Wisconsin senator as chairman of the Senate committee on governmental operations, but he will vote to ban him from being a member.

This sounds like a bold and courageous step because it could conceivably cost Mr. Case the election, but it really isn't as courageous as it sounds. For, if the indictment made by Mr. Case is in his judgment supportable, he logically should have advocated that Sen. McCarthy be removed from the Senate altogether. If Mr. McCarthy isn't eligible to be a member of one Senate committee on account of the reasons given by Mr. Case, then he isn't eligible to sit in the Senate at all. This means that Mr. Case is saying to the people of Wisconsin that the man they elected in 1952 with full knowledge of his views and course of action in public office is to be debarred from serving them on important committees of the majority party as a consequence of the vote of the people of New Jersey, and any other states which concur in that procedure.

Mr. Case says that congressional investigations are sometimes worthwhile, but that Sen. McCarthy should be punished because his "participation" in the work of the committee in question has produced a "distracting and divisive effect." This assumes that there must be conformity of thought—if not thought control—in the United States Senate, and that any chairman or member of a committee with a tendency to produce "distracting or divisive" effects will be threatened with removal from membership, on any committee in which he has previously served. This is an odd proposal to be offered in a republic which boasts about freedom of expression by the members of its national legislature.

"It is obvious," says Mr. Case, "that our government" simply could not function if the executive departments and their personnel were subjected to constant and unjustified harassment and attack by congressional committees."

If the New Jersey senatorial nominee had consulted the leaders of his party here they would never have advised him to issue the statement he did. As it is, there is pessimism now among Republicans in Congress about the outlook for the election of a Republican senator in New Jersey this autumn. For there are many thousands of Democrats who came over to the Republican party on the anti-Communist issue in 1952, especially in Hudson County, who will be wondering whether they should stay home, or vote Democratic next time.

Atlanta Elks Cited for Top Rituals

Officers of Atlanta Lodge 78, BPOE, won the National Ritualistic Championship at the Grand Lodge convention held in Los Angeles this week.

The Atlanta Elks, who won the state contest last month, claimed the national title for the first time in competition with lodges from all over the country.

Members of the team, who were coached by Guy Tyler, past Exalted Ruler, are as follows: Dr. E. L. Graydon, Exalted Ruler; Eugene Webb, Esteemed Leading Knight; Volle S. West, Esteemed Securing Knight; Tom Bryan, Esteemed Loyal Knight; Col. O. L. Purdue, Chaplain; Robert Young, Esq., and Morris Manheim Jr., Junior Guards, and Tommy M. Brisendine, candidate.

unusual and dramatic trial, which was held behind closed doors at First Methodist Church here.

The Rev. J. E. Fain of Moultrie, counsel for the Rev. Mr. Craft, said the defendant will appeal his case to the Committee on Appeals of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference of the Methodist Church. The appeal must be made within the next 30 days, unless an extension is granted to allow time to prepare the record.

The proceedings were recorded on a tape recorder. It was estimated that a minimum of 32 days.

None of the testimony in the case has been revealed. The entire proceedings eventually will become a part of the record of the North Georgia Methodist Conference.

Dr. Waights G. Henry Jr., president of LaGrange College, was counsel for the church. The Rev. Claud M. Haynes, pastor of Peachtree Road Methodist Church, was judge.

50 WITNESSES

More than 50 witnesses testified in the trial, including two children and the Rev. Mr. Craft's son, Asbury, 20.

Three final witnesses testified Thursday morning. They were B. L. Fisher of Martinsville, Va., and Wade G. Murrah, a member of First Methodist Church, Atlanta, who testified for the defense, and Clarence B. Farrar, a member of Atlanta's East Lake Methodist Church, who was a rebuttal witness for the church.

The case went to the jury at 2 p.m. The verdict was rendered five hours later.

Before the jury began its deliberations, the Rev. Mr. Craft said that if convicted he would appeal the case on the following grounds:

1. The trial was secret, although the charges against him were made "in the open."
2. He was denied the "right" to have a layman as his associate counsel.
3. The charges against him "had no foundation and are not specifically related to the basic law of the church."

$1 Million Bid On Floyd County School Program

The Cherokee Construction Co. of Cleveland, Tenn., Thursday submitted the apparent low bid of $1,035,000 on the Floyd County school building program.

A state school building authority said the bid was well within the money set up for the 10 projects.

The program includes a new Negro high school in Rome, new Negro and two white elementary schools in Rome, a new Negro elementary school at Cave Spring and additions to three schools in Rome and one each in Armuchee, Lindale and Shannon.

25,000 a Month Draft Is Expected To Stay

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—Defense Department manpower chief John Hannah said today he expects monthly draft calls to remain at 23,000 through the fiscal year which began on July 1.

He noted, however, this of course would depend on whether the current rate of new and re-enlistments in the services continued and with no change in the international situation.

Acworth Family of 5 Breaks Bank

An Acworth family of five "teamed up" to win $3,730 on NBC's "Break the Bank" national network show in New York.

W. C. Robertson, his wife, and three daughters hit the jackpot last week, but the program, a tape show, was not broadcast until Thursday. Georgians heard it Thursday on WSB-Radio.

The Robertsons, on vacation in New York, would never have walked out of the broadcasting station "so much richer" had it not been for the baby of the family, 4-year-old Cathy, they reported.

Cathy identified a piece of music being played as "Peter and the Wolf," answering the question which "opened the gateway to the bank." Robertson, an employee of Lockheed's machine shop, two older daughters, and Mrs. Robertson all participated in a question barrage.

Mrs. Robertson supplied the answer to the jackpot question, which dealt with the author of "The Wizard of Oz." Robertson said he planned to buy an automobile with the family's winnings.

Godfrey and Friends Plan 8-Week Vacation

NEW YORK, July 8 (AP)—The Arthur Godfrey and His Friends Wednesday night television show is going to take an eight-week vacation. The TV star announced it on his weekly show last night while denying rumors that the show was breaking up.

Asserting he had heard rumors all day yesterday that the troupe was being disbanded, Godfrey denied it emphatically, but said the show's cast would begin a vacation after the July 14 appearance on CBS-TV.

Meanwhile, the Boston Record carried a story by TV Editor Joseph M. Purcell saying Godfrey would break up the troupe because of dissatisfaction with soprano Marion Marlowe and because of personal plans of another singer on the program.

The second singer was identified by the paper as Lu Ann Simms, whose engagement recently was announced.

The Record quoted an unidentified CBS executive as saying "Marion is giving orders now, not taking them. She has refused to sing any more duets with Frank Parker. Godfrey has been deluged with mail from his listeners. They want those duets and they think Godfrey stopped them. But he didn't."

Parker and Miss Marlowe sang a duet last night.

The unidentified CBS executive was quoted as saying Godfrey would be "revamping his entire show in an effort to build up a new kind of entertainment dynasty" during the vacation period.

A representative of Godfrey quoted the TV star as saying there was "no basis" for the story.

New Mystery Series Slated For WSB-TV

Screen star Melvyn Douglas will be starred as Steve Randall, a tough private investigator, in Hollywood Off-Beat, a new whodunit adventure series making its debut at 10:45 p.m. on WSB-TV.

In the kickoff drama, titled "Cat on the Roof," Douglas is retained by a divorce lawyer to locate some evidence quite important to a client.

During the ensuing 30 minutes, the private sleuth finds himself the object of a couple of beatings, the target of some not-too-accurate gunmen, and in the soft arms of a lovely young blonde—played by Mary Beth Hughes.

Hollywood Off-Beat will be a weekly presentation.

'Kismet' Cast Digs Into Shakespeare

NEW YORK, July 8—They look like college students, streaming in to the Ziegfeld Theater every Thursday afternoon with Shakespearean books clutched in their hot little hands. They're not collegians, they're the cast of "Kismet" and they show up, on their own time, Thursdays, to learn Shakespeare from Prof. Alfred Drake, star of their show.

Ed Sullivan

"As a result, our show has developed the greatest team spirit you've ever seen," says Doretta Morrow. "And I think it explains why the show maintains its freshness."

"Alfred Drake, of course, is simply fantastic. You know how long he occupies the stage in his ex-haunting role but his consistency, night after night, is amazing. In addition to his eight performances, he suggested the Shakespearean classes and he hasn't missed one of them. "If our dancers can take dancing lessons and acting lessons in the spare time," Alfred explains, "I certainly can join them at the Shakespearean classes."

In a season distinguished by the eye-appeal of leading ladies, Doretta Morrow more than holds her own in the pulchritude sweepstakes. Brooklyns will be happy to hear this, because she was born in that borough.

She didn't stay there long. When she was 2, her father, then with

New Russell Jury Panel Named

A new Russell County jury commission was appointed by Gov. Gordon Persons Thursday to replace the three members who resigned under criticism.

Appointed to the commission were Gordon Cumbaa, Charles H. Gunter and George F. Findlater, all of Phenix City. They replace Paul Jones, C. H. Lahey and Palmer C. Kennedy, who resigned at the governor's request.

Persons said he hoped to expedite the process of qualification so the commissioners can begin their work by Saturday.

Montgomery Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones, who has been appointed as a special judge to set up an emergency grand jury for investigation of the A. L. Patterson murder, recessed court until Saturday.

Jones ordered the old jury box thrown out and refilled with names of persons of unquestioned character and integrity.

Gunter, who is an insurance agent, said Persons was expected in Phenix City to swear in the new jury commissioners. Cumbaa is a real estate and rental agent and Findlater is a textile mill employee.

Meanwhile, at Columbus Chattahoochee Circuit Sol. Gen. Russell C. Davidson said he would ask Alabama authorities investigating the slaying of A. L. Patterson in Phenix City to turn over to him any and all information of connections for illegal activities between Columbus and Phenix City.

Davidson told of his intentions after he was informed of the contents of some of the recorded conversations between Hoyt Shepherd and Columbus officials.

$20,000 Henry Fire
The main building of the Henry County work camp Thursday was destroyed by fire, which apparently started in an overheated attic. The loss was estimated at $20,000.

An exhibition of German bookbinding is now on display at the University of Georgia. Robert Hammond, charged with murder in connection with the fatal burning of Mrs. Joseph W. Gorton, 20-year-old wife of a Camp Gordon soldier, surrendered himself to Augusta police Thursday. Mrs. Gorton died of burns received in an automobile accident June 28.

Air Guard To Encamp

The Georgia Air National Guard begins encampment in Savannah Sunday. Work has been completed on a dam in Lawrenceville which will create a storage reservoir for the city's water system. Lamar Wrigley of Bibb County Thursday was elected president of the Southwest District 4-H Council at Americus as club members from 25 southwest Georgia counties entered the final half of their project achievement meeting. . . . Walter Williams, 26-year-old escaped Negro convict, was sentenced to 20 years in prison Thursday in Laurens Superior Court on charges of attempted rape of a 14-year-old white girl. . . . Dalton Civil Defense leaders have scheduled a test of the city's air raid alarm at 12 noon Monday. . . . Richmond County voters Wednesday approved a $2,850,000 bond issue to finance a city-county building by a vote of 5 to 1.

Athens 4-H Meet Set

Two groups of 4-H Club boys and girls will meet on the University of Georgia campus at Athens next week to conclude the series of district 4-H project achievement meetings. Northeast Georgia District will meet July 12-14, and North Georgia District will hold its meeting July 14-16. . . . Dr. John H. Weinberger, widely known horticulturist and generally considered top adviser to Southeastern peach growers, is being transferred from Fort Valley to California by the Department of Agriculture. Victor E. Prince will succeed him. . . . Waycross City-Commission has set Aug. 24 for a referendum on a $50,000 bond issue which, if passed, will be one of the most ambitious public improvement programs in the history of the city.

HONORED — ATHENS, July 8—W. A. Sutton, associate director of Agriculture Extension Service and former state 4-H Club leader, was honored by 78 people from Emanuel County Thursday in a surprise party in Athens. Sutton is originally from Emanuel County.

Van Hefflins Have Son

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Van Hefflin gave birth to a six-pound, four-ounce boy, named Tracy Neal, at Santa Monica Hospital today. She and her actor husband have two girls, Vanna, 10, and Cathy, 8.

Gas Truck Driver Dies; 2nd Hurt

DUBLIN, July 8 (AP)—One gas truck driver burned to death near Gordon Thursday and another miraculously escaped death near Dublin in separate wrecks, the Dublin State Patrol Station reported.

Trooper W. J. Davis identified the dead man as Willie Nick, 46, of Gordon, who perished when a gas truck he was driving overturned and burned two miles west of Gordon.

In an accident six miles south of Dublin, Roy Carr, 20, of this city, was credited with saving the life of gas truck driver Ray Tolbert of Miami, Fla., according to trooper W. B. Garr.

Garr gave this account of the rescue:

Tolbert was driving a truck trailer over Turkey Creek bridge when a right front tire blew out, causing the truck and trailer to swerve, hit and go over a guard rail. The vehicle was hanging down over the bridge and caught fire with Tolbert trapped.

Carr, who was fishing nearby, jumped into the creek bed and freed the driver. Just as the two came out, the cab portion of the truck blew up.

Garr reported Tolbert's condition as "bad."

Savannah Suit Is Due To Maternity Dress

SAVANNAH, July 8 (AP)—Having to wear maternity clothes at the wrong time is embarrassing, according to a Savannah music teacher who filed suit today for $22,879.85 damages.

Mrs. James W. Jenkins explains in her suit that after an automobile accident she had to wear a back brace which could only be covered by a maternity dress.

She said this caused her "great embarrassment and humiliation" because all of her friends "knew her husband was a merchant seaman who was on the high seas and whom the petitioner had not seen for six months or more."

Tallapoosa Wife Dies in Wreck

Constitution State News Service

VILLA RICA, July 8—Mrs. Effie Grace Knight, 52, of Tallapoosa, was killed Thursday when the car in which she was riding crashed into a bridge railing on U.S. Highway 78 two miles west of Villa Rica, the State Patrol said.

Troopers said the auto evidently went out of control while traveling at a high rate of speed. The crash occurred at 4:13 p.m.

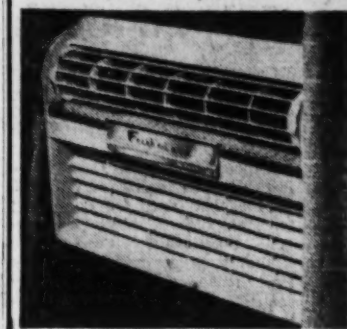

The patrol said the driver, not identified immediately, was injured.

Egyptians Kill Sheep, Start Shepherd Hotel

CAIRO, Egypt, July 8 (AP)—A fat sheep was slaughtered this morning to herald the start of rebuilding of Shepherd's Hotel, burned during riots in January 1952. The sheep killing is a traditional custom believed to bring good luck. The new nine-story building bearing the old name will be erected on a new site overlooking the Nile.

Movies in Review

F-Family A-Adult
By PAUL JONES

"Drums Across the River," now showing at the Paramount Theater, is a pretentious western starring Audie Murphy.

Adapted from the screenplay by John K. Butler and Lawrence Roman, this man-size outdoor drama offers outstanding screen characterizations, three of which are played by Walter Brennan, Lyle Bettger and Hugh O'Brian. The story's about the efforts of a youth and his father (Murphy and Brennan) to defend the land rights of the Indians in Colorado during and after the gold-rush days. The script calls for numerous action scenes and these have been filmed with Technicolor splendor against a picturesque outdoor setting.

Reviewer's rating: Excellent western. Family classification.

Readers of Mickey Spillane's paper-bound eye-wash will find the Rialto Theater's current attraction, "The Long Wait," particularly to their liking.

As a brutal, bare-knuckles murder story this movie provides many exciting moments, not the least of which comes in true Spillane fashion in the sizzling finale.

Anthony Quinn and Charles Coburn, two of Hollywood's best actors, portray the hero and heavy, respectively. Their work need not be said, is more polished than are the efforts of the script writer. Four typical Spillane "dolls" are impersonated by Peggie Castle, Mary Ellen Kay, Shawn Smith and Dolores Donlon.

Reviewer's rating: Good gangster yarn. Adult classification.

County Entry Deadline

July 26--Cook

County Democratic committees apparently can qualify candidates for the Legislature up to 45 days before the Sept. 8 primary.

Although the State Democratic Executive Committee set July 3 as the final date for qualifying for state offices, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook said Thursday the Soldier Vote law and Democratic Party rules indicate that the only restrictions on county committees fixing closing dates for legislators is 45 days before the Sept. 8 primary.

Many county committees closed their entries July 3. Others, including Dougherty County, had set a later qualifying deadline. In Seminole County, the local committee suddenly changed its closing date from July 26 to July 3 to meet what Chairman Elliott Dunn considered the mandatory deadline on legislative candidates.

Would Halt 'Donations' —Talmadge

Gov. Talmadge declared Thursday if he finds any state employees being coerced into contributing to political campaigns he will stop the practice immediately.

Talmadge's statement came as Albert Dozier, head of the state sales tax unit, denied for the second time in recent months that he is assessing employees for campaign funds for a gubernatorial candidate.

House Speaker Fred Hand, a gubernatorial candidate, warned Dozier that he would send a legislative committee to investigate if he received one more complaint. Hand didn't name the candidate allegedly being aided this time, but Roy Harris said the funds were being collected.

Griffin, Harris and Linder Grapple on School Plans

Georgians a chance individually to say whether they will attend all white, all Negro or mixed schools. For a person who chooses the mixed, he said:

"We will have a board of doctors to see if he is crazy. If he isn't crazy we are going to fix a place (school) for him to go. If he is crazy, we already have one (Milledgeville State Hospital.)"

BIGGEST APPLAUSE

Biggest applause of the day greeted that statement.

Candidate Gowen repeated his opposition to any private school plan. And he noted that his plan had been approved "in principle" by the State of Mississippi and last week by the legislature of the State of Louisiana. "There is no problem," he said, "the people can't handle at the local level. We don't have to give away any schools to meet that problem. The colored parents in this state don't want to see their children forced into white schools."

Gowen also reiterated his promise to fire 3,000 "unnecessary" state employees if he is elected. He said, "these 3,000 were appointed not to work but to draw salaries for their past and future political services."

He said striking off these 3,000 employees would save the state $15 million, enough to finish paving every unpaved road in the state system.

IRRIGATED FARMS

Gowen said there is a great need to irrigate Georgia farms to make them profitable. He proposed an irrigation study which would prevent any single individual "usurping" a neighborhood water supply, giving each farmer a fair chance.

Griffin, whose speech was interrupted for five minutes by high winds and rolling thunder, took his stand on "the greatest progress Georgia has ever made in the past six years," while he has been lieutenant governor. He cited improvements of schools, rural clinics, health services, old age assistance, improvement of Milledgeville's "deplorable conditions," and enactment and financing the Minimum Foundation Program.

POINTS TO PROGRESS

He added, "Georgia's industrial wealth and agricultural research" have increased to such an extent that "no longer can misguided individuals travel about the country and talk about ignorant folks of Georgia."

Griffin said the Southern white man has always been the Negro's best friend. "Under the administration of Herman Talmadge and Marvin Griffin the Negroes made the greatest progress in history."

Do they now want "to prosper under separate but equal school systems or listen to the NAACP and Communist fellow travelers and destroy themselves and every gain they have made?"

"The people who would destroy state's rights and our tradition are saying 'be calm,' don't be excited," Griffin added.

BETTER HIGHWAYS

Linder said that if he is elected he will use increasing state revenue to improve highways, schools, the welfare department and health department.

Linder came to the defense of Highway Chairman Jim Gillis, who has been criticized by candidate Gowen for letting state contracts on a negotiated basis. He said Gillis has been "a good man, getting the work done and getting it done for less."

Speaking for candidate Thompson, Anderson said Thompson is against mixed schools and toll roads and favors adequately financed segregated public school system.

He said Thompson would provide a free highway system, better farm-to-market roads, appropriate part of the gasoline tax to cities for street improvements and help small communities get new industry.

ARRIVES IN TRUCK

Barfield arrived in a red, white and blue milk truck, carrying a bulldog and an iron bed. He wore a yellow beret which he removed before he mounted the platform. He said he favors removal of the sales tax on food and medicine, opposes toll roads and bridges, wants increased National Guard and reserve unit strength and a bonus for all veterans, private schools to maintain segregation and absolute prohibition.

He told a reporter he was going to bring a dancer from Atlanta but she was unable to make the trip. He said the dancer would join him later in the campaign.

Garland repeated his backing for an Adequate Program for Education in Georgia and a $40,000,000 bonus for veterans to be financed over a 10-year period.

And he stressed that he favors a bone dry state.

Garland, citing a Massachusetts survey, said that for each $1 of whiskey tax collected it costs $5 to $10 to clean up the "mess" caused by it.

Two candidates for lieutenant governor, Billy Barrett and William Dean, appeared at the rally. Barrett said that he favors strict enforcement of the laws against lobbying. He lashed out at Roy Harris of Augusta, saying "you all know who the biggest lobbyist is." Dean said the voters should look for a man of honesty and experience.

Court Opens City Courses To Negroes

nized the right of the city to segregate players, but said they must have facilities that are reasonably equal to those for whites.

"The City of Atlanta," Judge Sloan's ruling said, "is under no legal obligation to provide golfing facilities, but if it does so it may not deny to a Negro, because he is a Negro, his individual, his personal, right as a citizen to enjoy the facility furnished at public expense while permitting a white man, because he is white, to use and enjoy it."

(In a similar case in Houston, Tex., the court held the city had to let the Negroes use the courses, but could do so on a segregated basis, and this decision was upheld by the Supreme Court. The City Council, however, held this was operationally impossible and threw the courses open to both races and that is the way they are now being used.)

The suit against the city was filed in 1951 by Dr. H. M. Holmes, Oliver W. Holmes and Alfred Holmes. They charged they were denied admission to the Bobby Jones Municipal Course on July 19, 1951.

The original action claimed damages from the city but at a hearing earlier this week counsel for the plaintiffs dropped the damage suit and the city agreed not to ask for a jury trial.

Judge Sloan said he was postponing application of his ruling for "a reasonable time and until further order of this court" so the city "may be afforded a reasonable opportunity to promptly prepare and put into effect new regulations."

In approving the use of the courses on a segregated basis, the court applied the "separate but equal" doctrine which was outlawed by the U.S. Supreme Court recently, as it applies to educational facilities.

Sloan took cognizance of this but indicated his belief that "separate but equal" still could be applied to such privileges as use of a golf course.

Policeman Talks Her Out of 7-Story Leap

PHILADELPHIA, July 8 (AP). A 30-year-old divorcee threatened to leap from a narrow ledge on the seventh-floor of City Hall today but was rescued by a smooth-talking off-duty policeman.

Pt. George R. Eastburn, 28, said that after pleading with the woman for 10 minutes he persuaded her to return to safety by telling her: "I've got a wife and a couple of kids. You wouldn't want to pull me off here, would you?"

The attractive brunette identified herself as Adeline De Noia.

jurors and adds "when I go down there in the morning I'll start to work contacting other jurors." the source added. Another record tells of Shepherd and Jimmy Matthews, his partner, selling a number of slot machines to a man in Maryland.

"Mister X" started the explosive chain of events last Saturday when he called an RBA official with this message: "I have some telephone recordings for you and will have more if you follow my instructions. Play the records before a newspaper reporter and the investigators in the Patterson case."

Four records were received in the mail Saturday afternoon, the RBA spokesman said.

All of these first records dealt with conversations between Shepherd and a Columbus city commissioner. The two men discussed former Columbus police chief John Newberry and other prominent men in Columbus.

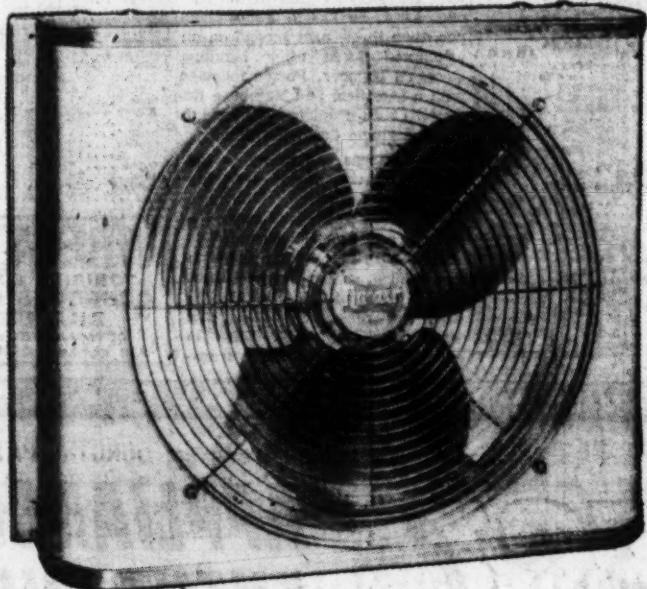

Yesterday, "Mister X" called again. He told the RBA source that he had more records and would leave them in a public telephone booth on a sidewalk in downtown Columbus. The plastic discs were found in the booth at the time specified.

One of the records purportedly discloses a discussion between Shepherd and Matthews concerning income from playing the horses. Another conversation between the same two men concerned parlay income and gambling activities in Florida.

Informed sources said the Shepherd recordings were probably made over a period of several years.

"Mr. X" said on the telephone that the information would be obtained in the records shedding light on the bombing of Hugh Bennett's home in January, 1952.

Furman BISHOP

Sports Editor

Father of the Poodle Cut

"Here," said Gorgeous George, handing the lady in the beauty parlor a dollar bill, "is a picture of the original Gorgeous George."

"It really is, you know," he said on the way out. "George Washington's hair style was similar to mine. At least it was long, and he was a wrestler."

Bishop

"Is that where you got the idea for your blond wig?" asked a curiosity seeker.

"Well, not exactly, and yet it is. When I was about nine years old, my dad gave me a dollar and sent me to the barber shop to get a haircut and told me to bring him the change. Money was tight in those days and we were just folks of average means, and the more I thought about spending that 25 cents for a haircut the more I rebelled against it. I looked at the dollar bill and there was George Washington and his long hair.

"If it's good enough for George Washington," I said to myself, "it's good enough for me. I went back home and gave my dad the dollar bill. I've never really had short hair since. I'd let it grow out long to wear to school. I liked to have the other kids call me a sissy. It gave me a chance to show them I wasn't."

"But don't you feel a little foolish walking into a beauty parlor and getting your hair put in little curls, and being stared at like a prize hog as you walk the streets and sit in hotel lobbies?"

"Not at all," said George. "not in the least. When they stare at me that means they know who I am, and when they know who I am that means they're going to tell somebody else about me. I like to be recognized. It's good for my business."

—Clara's Only Male Client

In the beauty foundry, Miss Clara Freeman, a redhead, had said that Mr. Gorgeous is her only male client. "Oh, I have them for manicures," she said, "but he's the only one that gets his hair done and . . . well, you know."

"I've met some mighty nice people in beauty parlors," George said, just before he met another. A lady who had been sitting under one of those metal gadgets that look like a garbage pail turned upside down stalked across the room.

"I just want to ask a question," she said. "Don't they pull your hair, and doesn't it hurt?"

"Yes, madame," said George. "they pull my hair, but short hair hurts more than long hair when it is pulled."

"But while they pull your hair, you do something to them, don't you?" asked the lady, and she showed her balled fist through the air and sort of grunted her teeth.

"Yes, I do something to them. I get in a jab or two."

"That's good," said the lady. "I'd punch 'em, too, if they pulled my hair." She went back to her upside-down garbage pail and sat down. Somehow, she looked far more satisfied with things than when she got up.

"That's the way it is," said George. "They all want to know something. It's been like that ever since the first time I showed up with this long hair. I originated the poodle hair-do, you know. Life magazine said it was somebody else, but I called their hand on it. I've got pictures of me in my poodle hair-do as far back as 1947. My hair stylings have been copied all over."

—A $200,000 Last Laugh

Until the year 1941, Gorgeous George was George Wagner of Houston, Texas, son of a house painter and just another wrestler. He'd won some minor titles, as wrestling titles go, and made a little money.

"I've had tough days," he said. "I can remember $3 payoffs here in Atlanta, and an old flea-bag hotel I used to stay at when I was here. Once I had trouble checking out because I was six days back on my rent."

He'd still be George Wagner if it hadn't been for a woman fan in Portland, Ore. "I always wore long, flowing robes," he said. "One night I walked down the aisle in Portland wearing a new, very pretty number. I heard the lady say, 'My, but you look gorgeous tonight, George.' I asked the ring announcer to introduce me as Gorgeous George Wagner. I liked it, and I've been Gorgeous George ever since."

In '47, television caught sight of him and word of this effeminate beast began to spread. Finally, in 1951 he made himself legally Gorgeous George. His children are now Georges instead of Wagners. His signature is G. G. You can call the hotel and ask for Gorgeous George, not George Wagner.

"Some people think I'm Liberace's brother," he said, "because he's always talking about his brother George. We're not related, in any respect. Liberace's okay, in every way. He's a showman. I laugh at people who laugh at Liberace, and at me. For $200,000 a year I can afford to laugh back."

Feller Fells Faltering Orioles, 4-1, on 7 Hits

CLEVELAND, July 8 (AP)—Jim Hegan and Wally Westlake hit home runs and Bob Feller gave up only seven hits today as the front-running Cleveland Indians beat Baltimore's Orioles, 4-1, and moved four games ahead in the American League race.

Hegan, collecting Cleveland's first hit from pitcher Lou Kretlow, stroked his four-base blow over the left field fence in the third inning. It was the catcher's fifth of the season.

Westlake hit his 10th of the year over the same wall after Al Rosen had singled in the sixth.

Vern Stephens singled and scored then on a walk to Chuck Diering, a force out by Clint Courtney and a fly out by Bob Young.

Cleveland's other run came in the fifth when Dave Philley walked got to second when George Strickland bunted safely and went

Bill Norman Resigns as Trav Pilot

LITTLE ROCK, July 8 (AP)—

Manager Bill Norman of the Little Rock Travelers quit today, after his team lost nine of its last 10 games and seemed headed for the Southern Association cellar.

The 43-year-old pilot notified General Manager Ray Winder of the Little Rock club of his decision.

Norman immediately was assigned by the parent Detroit Tigers to scout the Triple-A and Double-A leagues for them for the rest of this season and 1955.

A successor has not been named. Winder indicated that he did not expect to have a new skipper for a series opener at Memphis tomorrow night. Winder said that no one on the club at present would be chosen.

Crackers Win, Near Star Tilt Host Role

George Masters Barons, 6-3; Parks, Porter Slam Homers

By JESSE OUTLAR

Earl Mann began preparing for Atlanta's fifth All-Star game, and Eddie Glennon hung out the "wait till next year" sign again at Birmingham Thursday night after the Crackers dumped the Barons, 6-3, at Ponce de Leon Park.

Whitlow Wyatt's men need only one more victory to complete operation All-Star, regardless of how New Orleans fares in three remaining games in Mobile.

The Pels won, 4-1, Thursday in a rain-abbreviated five-inning game to keep their faint hopes alive and in so doing replaced the Barons in second place.

Birmingham, which has never hosted the annual classic, was officially eliminated from '54 contention in the seventh inning. That's the round in which Pete Whisenant broke a 3-3 deadlock by delivering Chuck Tanner with a sacrifice fly.

The whopping turnout of 6,537, fan whooped it up as the Crackers jumped off on the right foot in the "showdown" series.

Even if the Barons take the remaining three games, they'll finish two percentage points behind the Crackers, whom they trail by three lengths. However, the Barons could upset the All-Star card by winning three, provided New Orleans sweeps four from Mobile.

Thursday's vital victory was achieved via Bill George's tight clutch pitching, glittering defensive play featuring Paul portation with a double into the right-center sector.

Twice the Barons maneuvered the potential tying run to third, but sharp fielding plays by Rambone ended both threats.

So they rolled into the seventh on 3-3 terms. Then, with one out, Chuck Tanner walked, took second on a wild pitch, buzzed to third on Bob Montag's single, and came across on Whisenant's fly. That was the difference, but Parks and Porter crashed insurance homers. George did not issue a walk, as

Demaret, Turnesa Move Up Spence Leads British Open

By STEWART SLAPPEY
SOUTHPORT, England, July 8 (AP)—Chain-smoking Bill Spence of England uncorked another sub-par round today to take a one-stroke lead at the halfway mark of the British Open golf championship but hot on his heels were 11 contenders including America's Jimmy Demaret and Jim Turnesa.

The long-driving, 42-year-old Kent pro fired a one-under-par 38-34-72 to go with his brilliant 69 of yesterday for a 141 total, three under regulation figures for the par-73, 6,837-yard Royal Birkdale seaside course.

Demaret, colorful pro from Klamath Lake, N.Y., and Turnesa, of Briarcliff, N.Y., former American PGA champion, also turned in sub-par scores to wind up with 144s and a five-way tie for seventh in this wide open tournament. With any luck on their putts both Jimmys might be leading the pack of 50 for tomorrow's final 36 holes.

Demaret burned up the course going out with a 33 but flubbed easy ones on the way back for a 38. The 41-year-old Turnesa said "I might easily have had a 66 or 68 but several putts rimmed the cup and stayed out." He carded a one-under-par 36-36-72 instead.

Three other Americans, amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., and veteran pros Al Watrous, Birmingham, Mich., and Gene Sarazen, Germantown, N. Y., also qualified for tomorrow's double round but Cincinnati's Tony Penna lost out with a 77 for a 153 total. A 151 or better was needed to qualify.

Bobby Locke, three-time winner of the Open and the pre-tournament favorite, was in contention with a 145 on 74-71.

Sam King, England, who shot a brilliant 69 yesterday to tie Spence for the lead, skied to 74. Syd Scott, a 40-year-old Cumberlander who had been sidelined two months this spring with a bad leg, broke the course record 1-2 strokes with a scintillating 34-33-67. He had a 76 yesterday. Peter Thomson, tournament-tested young Australian, and the tiny Dai Rees, of Wales, had the same rounds, 72-71-143.

Among those eliminated were Henry Clon, former Open King, and Doug Bachli, the new British Amateur champion from Australia.

Chisox Purchase High School Star

CHICAGO, July 8 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today signed a 17-year-old Chicago high school star, first baseman-outfielder Dick Dittusa, for their Waterloo farm club in the Class B Three I League. Dittusa, 6 feet 1 right-handed batter, was sought by all other major league clubs, the Sox reported. He goes to Waterloo this weekend.

EVERYBODY'S DOING it these days. Switching to the single wing, that is. Latest on the Atlanta scene is Bass High School. Coach Phil Alexander tried the "new" offense in spring drills, liked results enough to decide this summer he'll go with it. Little Phil Heiser will be the tailback. . . . Frankie Sinkwich, the Georgia all-American turned furniture magnate in Athens, has gone into politics. He's serving as campaign manager for W. K. (Billy) Barrett, a candidate for lieutenant governor. . . . Eddie Johnson, former assistant pro at Panama City, Fla., has won the Fort Jackson golf championship. Johnson, who edged out former Wake Forest golfer Frank Edens for the title, once shot a 62 at Okefenokee Golf Club in Waycross.

CPL. KEN REIDENBRACH, former Drake University football star now stationed at Camp Gordon, gets his discharge this month and then heads for training camp with the Chicago Bears. He's a 258-pound lineman. . . . Atlanta's Leon Cunningham, being boomed for all-America this fall, is hitting the books in summer school at South Carolina and working in Columbia.

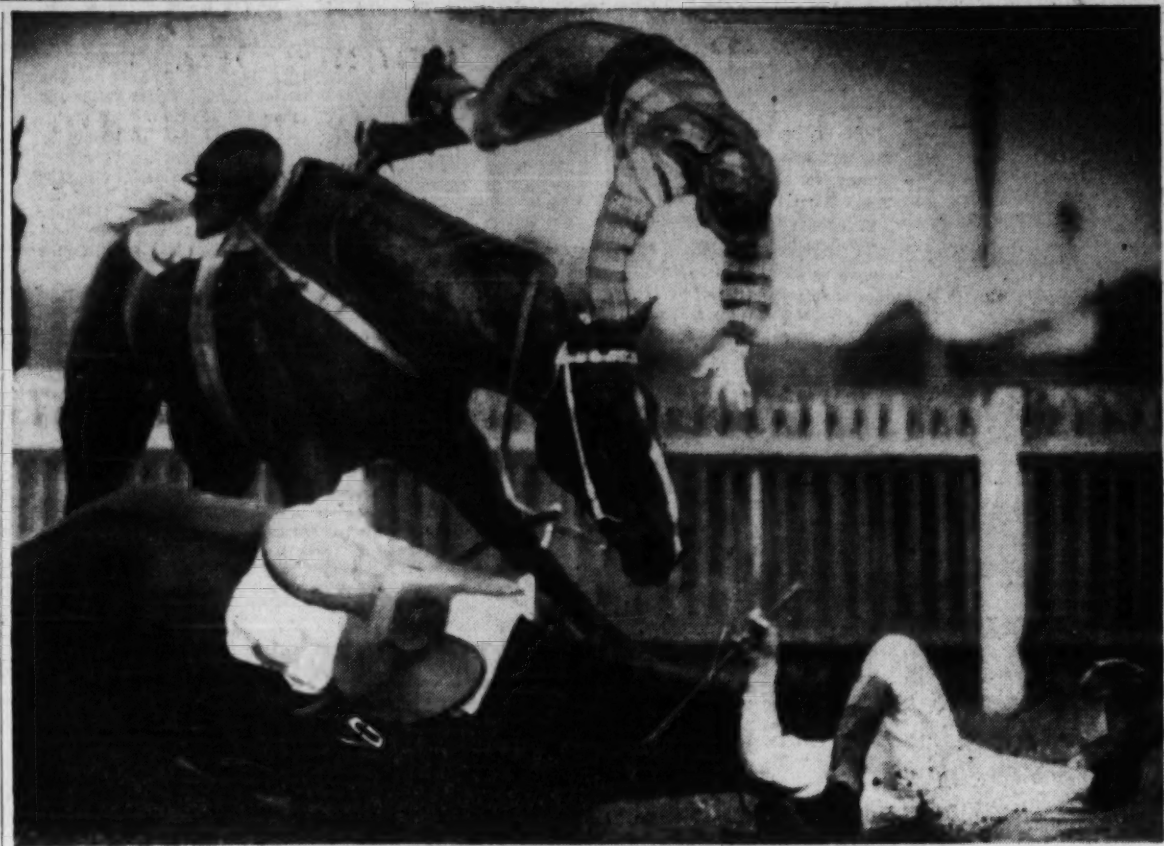

RAPID FIRE: Jim Grieves, general manager of the Columbus Cardinals, giving his opinion of Valdosta's Ellis Clary, new manager of the Charlotte Hornets: "I'm glad we caught Charlotte for a good part of our games before Ellis Clary took over as manager. That club is going to be rough, brother."

MAJOR FRANK Palmer of Midland captured the rifle and pistol teams representing the Third Army in all-Army rifle matches recently. . . . Cpl. Sam Reynolds of Wichita Falls, Texas, former Texas-Oklahoma Open champ, is the new Ft. Benning golf king. Won the 72-hole tournament by 16 strokes. . . . Rabun County Bulldog Club organized in Clayton has named Paul Green president. . . . Third Army baseball tournament will be held at Ft. Bragg, N.C., Aug. 30-Sept. 4. . . . Third Army swim meet at Fort Bragg, N.C., Aug. 18-19. . . . Dennis Hopkins of Washington, Ga., won the third annual Washington-Wilkes Country Club Open Golf Tournament. David Boyd, national PeeWee champ from Jacksonville, Fla., was first flight winner. . . . Ft. Morey's 136 Wins Medal At Memphis

Bob Moncrief 2nd With 70-73-142

MEMPHIS, July 8 (AP)—Dale Morey, 33-year-old veteran of tournament golf, fired a blistering 3-under-par 67 today for a 36-hole total of 136 to win the medal of the Colonial Country club invitational.

Morey of Martinsville, Ind., who lost in the finals of the national amateur to Gene Littler last year, finished a whopping six strokes better than runnerup Bob Moncrief of Houston, Tex., who carded 70-73-143.

Morey's 67 was the only sub-par round of the day over the water-soaked 6,167-yard course. Par is 34-36-70.

It took 151 to make the championship flight of 32. This was four strokes higher than last year.

Qualifiers for the championship flight: Jimmie Robbins, defending champion, Dale Morey, 69-67-136; Bob Moncrief, 70-72-142; Buddy Wade, 71-72-143; Ronnie Wender, 71-72-143; Rex Baxter, 72-71-143; Curtis Person, 69-74-143; Louis Culley, 70-74-144; Tommy Lott, 73-71-144; Tommy Morrow, 71-73-144; Earl Parr, 73-72-145; Victor Bass Jr., 75-71-146; Betty Fraser, 74-72-146; Max Schwartz, 75-71-146; Cecil Calhoun, 72-75-147; Eddie Merritt, 73-74-147; Don Albert, 72-75-147; Jim Mangum, 73-75-148; Hobart Massey, 75-73-148; Billy Bobbitt, 75-76-151; Jack Gibson, 75-74-149; Charles Rosen, 72-77-149; Jimmy Witherspoon, 76-73-150; Wayne Williams, 75-75-150; Ralph Levy, 77-73-150; Ron Rudolph, 76-75-151; Earl Mitchell, 75-75-150; Walter Shanks, 74-75-151; Charlie Koehender, 74-75-151; Bud Humphrey, 74-77-151; Barry McKinnon, 77-74-153.

DALLAS DIGS FOR BIG DOUGH AS PHILLY PLEADS FOR A'S

By FRED B. WALTERS

PHILADELPHIA, July 8 (AP)—Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. today asked Philadelphia area businessmen to "pick up the ball" and help keep the American League baseball franchise in Philadelphia through a "community-chest kind of drive."

Clark threw cold water on reports the city might provide some form of subsidy to pull the Athletics out of its financial mire.

He pledged the "full strength of (the city's) public relations" behind the club, but added that he is "not interested in creeping socialism" and said the city is not going to put up any money to keep the A's in Philadelphia.

Today's meeting was called last week by Clark after the A's management told the mayor the club must draw another 420,000 paid admissions this season or give up its franchise.

Clark opened the 50-minute meeting by advising the group that loss of the A's franchise would be a severe loss to the economy of the Philadelphia area.

Roy Mack said he had received several offers for the Athletics, but that he had turned them all down flat.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, July 8 (AP)—A whirlwind campaign to raise $5,000,000 in order to nail down a Major League baseball franchise was mapped today by oilman E. E. (Buddy) Fogelson and R. W. Burnett, owner of the Dallas franchise in the Texas League.

A search for 10 men who will chip in $500,000 apiece was started by Fogelson and Burnett after the Dallas Chamber of Commerce put its stamp of approval on the project and the powerful Dallas Citizens Council, meeting without a quorum, endorsed it.

Burnett said they actually would be seeking only eight men for the half-million each since he already was a contributor and that Fogelson would also do so. And he added, they knew at least two more men immediately who would take $500,000 worth of stock.

Explaining that he and Fogelson had had different ideas on how the money was to be raised but that they had gotten together and worked out a plan, Burnett said that the campaign would run through the coming weekend and if the 10 men were not obtained in that time the project would be abandoned.

Cate Quits at Waycross For Calhoun Principalship

Kendrick Gets Head Coaching Post; Tanner To Aid Martin With Jackets

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Vassa (Gus) Cate, after a distinguished coaching career spanning 15 years at Waycross High, will quit the football field this fall and leave Southeast Georgia for Northwest Georgia to take over as principal at Calhoun High.

The shift by Cate and the resignation last winter of Lindy McGee, who coached Calhoun's Yellow Jackets to the state Class C grid title in 1952 and the runner-up spot in 1953, has brought about complete shake-ups of the coaching staffs at both schools.

Dub Kendrick, who has aided Cate for two years after coaching for one year at Paboke, Fla., is to be named head football coach at Waycross. And Linton Jordan, former University of Alabama back who recently was released from military service, will become basketball coach.

Cate is naming Hamp Tanner, former star tackle at Georgia and last year line coach at Oglethorpe County High (Arnolds-ville) to the line coaching post at Calhoun, which steps up into Class A competition in the fall.

He will aid Bob Martin, elevated from assistant to head coach now that McGee has departed for the head coaching berth at Northwestern Mississippi Junior College in Senatobia. Martin came to Calhoun from Tucker three years ago.

Cate, a star Georgia back before 1940 graduation, will continue to do some coaching at Calhoun, where he will handle the B team for the first year.

The Brunswick native has been coaching at Waycross, with exception of three years of Navy duty during World War II, since 1941 and has developed some of the state's most outstanding teams.

Kendrick, new head man at Waycross, played offensive tackle for Florida State University during Dr. Don Veller's coaching tenure.

Tanner played some pro football with the San Francisco 49ers and the Dallas Texans after graduation at Georgia before starting a coaching career last year at Oglethorpe County.

Buck Linton To Be Buried Here Today

Funeral services for J. R. Linton will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at Spring Hill.

Buck, as he was known to local and southern sports writers with whom he worked in his capacity as an operator for the Western Union, died of a heart attack here Wednesday night at age 65. He resided at 1376 Hartford Ave., Southwest.

He had been an employee of the Western Union for 45 years, joining the organization as a messenger and clerk in 1905 at Greenwood, S.C. The following year he transferred to Charlotte, N.C., to study telegraphy and came to Atlanta in November of 1906.

Since that time he had been a familiar figure in the press boxes at Grant Field, Sanford Stadium and Ponce de Leon Park.

His thorough knowledge of sports made him a great asset both to the writer for whom he was sending via Morse code or teletype and the copy desk which had to expedite the story to beat the always present "deadline."

Ga-Fla. Prexy Suspends Bartley In Ump Fracas

THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 8 (AP)—Thomasville baseball manager Boyd Bartley has been temporarily suspended on an umpire's charge that Bartley "hit" him during the game at Valdosta Monday night.

Umpire Ted Lopat said he was struck during an argument over a play at home plate.

Georgia - Florida League President W. T. Anderson notified the club of Bartley's suspension yesterday.

Bartley said he went on the field to calm a group of Thomasville players who were protesting the decision.

A Rhyme a Day

"Older people need the companionship of those who are middle-aged or younger; to get the fresh viewpoint of youth, reabsorb some of the lost enthusiasm and get away from the complaints and fixed opinions of others of their ages."—Health article quote.

It makes a man feel mighty old... and useless when he has been told... by some old friend of years that he... himself, "ain't what he used to be"... Immediately, he compares... himself with his old friend who bears... the marks of age upon his face... who slowly gets from place to place... or mentions someone both had known... before the two of them were grown.

Old friends are mirrors that reflect... ourselves, and flaws we don't suspect... are shown to us quite plainly when... we look at others who have been... around here for so long a time... they've lost "the April of their prime"... They look so tired, gray and fat... we wonder if we look like that... (perhaps the very things they say... of us when they have walked away).

It's best, perhaps, we do not see... ourselves as others do, for we... would be so sad that we would cry... or just crawl off somewhere and die... and that is why I think a man... should be with young folks when he can... to help him get rejuvenated... when he's been "adult-erated."

Goren on Bridge

BY CHARLES GOREN

Neither side vulnerable. South deals.

8 4	A Q 10	A 6	8
WEST		SOUTH
Q J 9 7 5 3	A 6	K 4	10 9 7 3 2
A 6	A 8	A Q 10	7 5
K 6 5	J 9 7 3 2
K 9 2	J 8 6 4 3

The bidding:
South: 1 heart, 2 spades, 3 hearts, 4 spades.
West: Pass, Pass, 5 hearts, Pass.
East: Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass.
North: Pass, Pass, Pass, Pass.

Open lead: Seven of spades.
Today's hand was culled from the recent individual tournament sponsored by the New York Daily News in New York. A new all-time attendance record for bridge tournaments was established when 2,000 players entered this novel contest in which one has a new partner on every deal.

Well up among the leaders was Stephen Chase, dramatic star in "The Caine Mutiny Trial," current Broadway success. Chase played as a commuter, taking time out between hands to do a 15-minute turn on stage. Back to the contest and again to the stage for curtain call.

Between trips, he had time to gain top score on the deal shown today, by bringing in a five-heart contract on a grossly overbid hand.

West was pressing a bit on his overall, and North's leap to four hearts was a distinct stretch in view of the balanced nature of his distribution. East, too, was bitten by the bug and decided to save at four spades, a bid which South passed around to his partner.

North, apprehensive that West might fulfill his contract, went on to five hearts, and quiet settled on the scene.

West, for reasons best known to himself, opened the seven of spades. East won with the ace and returned a spade. Declarer, upon winning with king, observed that he was in grave danger of losing a diamond trick inasmuch as West was reasonably well marked with the ace of hearts and both missing kings.

There was, however, a remote chance that the contract could be brought in. It depended upon West having only one heart, which, of course, would be the ace. Declarer first led to the queen of clubs and ruffed dummy's remaining spade. He then cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed the remaining club. The stage was now set, and declarer got out with a trump. West was in, and the forced diamond return gave declarer his contract.

Observe that the contract could be beaten in two ways: (a) by cashing the ace of hearts on the opening lead; (b) by the return of a diamond when East is in with the ace of spades.

Questions Answered

Mrs. T. writes: A 5-year-old boy makes faces at everyone and when his young playmates come to the home he kicks and bites them. A psychologist explained that this is a behavior problem resulting from a feeling of insecurity which is traceable to the grandmother, who doesn't love or accept the child. How does this sound to you?

This is a good explanation but it also is possible that this boy is demanding attention. In the old days, a child who acted this way was kicked or bitten back by his little friends. One treatment along this line often led to cure.

Mrs. G. writes: I have heard that women are advised to examine the breasts as a means of catching early cancer. Can you tell me something about this procedure?

Our leaflet on self-examination of the breasts describes the technique. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this leaflet.

Mrs. O. writes: What causes a constant low temperature in a 53-year-old woman?

Morning or afternoon temperature? After a night's sleep the temperature may be as low as 96 degrees F. and by afternoon it rises to 98.6. Unless these variations are taken into consideration, many persons worry about a high or low reading.

J. W. writes: If a person does not want to develop a heart attack should he stop eating eggs? Eggs are rich in cholesterol

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Avoid Negative And Sick Thoughts

Henry R., 48, is a successful physician.

"Dr. Crane, what do you think about the effects of the great stress nowadays on modern hospitalization insurance?" he asked when we dined together recently.

"I suppose most people would think me a 'nut' to criticize the idea, but I actually think hospitalization insurance causes more sickness than it heals.

"For example, I find that people who never thought about illness before, now read all the ailments for which they are covered in their policies, and sooner or later they get into a negative, sickly frame of mind.

"Maybe it is just a subconscious process by which they try to recover some returns on the money they pay out for premiums.

"My mother, for example, never was sick in her life till my Dad recently took out hospitalization insurance. And now they both have been in and out of hospitals half a dozen times."

NEGATIVE THINKING

Dr. Henry has a good point in what he says, for there is no denying the fact that if you start looking for symptoms, you'll soon find them.

This is a truism concerning human nature which is even demonstrated by each class of medical students.

For when they start studying tuberculosis and its many symptoms, a large number of students imagine maybe they have it, so descend on the x-ray department to have chest x-rays.

For we are all suggestible. And the more we know, the more suggestible we become.

So when we have comprehensive hospitalization insurance, we tend to start thinking negatively. Subconsciously we look for symptoms that might warrant a trip to the hospital.

Maybe Dr. Henry is correct in saying it is often a subconscious attempt to recover some money for the premiums we have paid out.

MALINGERING

For many people then subconsciously begin to feign illness, just as many auto drivers trump up claims for accident insurance on the car.

For example, I have seen men actually dent their fenders worse after a small collision because their policy paid only on damages that exceeded $50, and they feared the actual dent wasn't $50 worth.

Thus, in effect, they made their car "sicker" in order to qualify for their insurance.

Well, if men will do that with an automobile, why won't they also malingering?

This may be done subconsciously, so they will swear in all sincerity that they are REALLY ill, yet the entire ailment may be psychologically induced.

Veteran's hospitals are likewise flooded with patients who wittingly but usually unwittingly nurture ailments in order to rate hospitalization.

QUIT BEING SICK

Hospitalization insurance has many financial assets. And it is a boon to young married couples who are expecting to have 3 or 4 babies. For the maternity charges, hospital care, etc. are then paid by the insurance company.

It is unfortunate, however,

Okay of Postal Pay Boost Stirs 'Package' Bill Drive

WASHINGTON, July 8.—White House approval for a 5 per cent boost in postal workers pay today signaled a drive to pass it in a single package with the higher postal rates asked by the administration.

This effort had the full and open support of Speaker Martin of Massachusetts and Rep. Hale of Indiana, Republican leader of the House.

The two leaders brought about a compromise within the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee which replaced the original 7 per cent interim increase, originally reported, with the 5 per cent permanent, across-the-board boost now proposed.

Successful with the committee, the speaker and majority leader then carried the proposal, down town and got an endorsement from President Eisenhower himself.

Rep. Rees of Kansas, chairman of the post office committee, immediately scheduled a committee meeting for tomorrow morning to act on the compromise, laid down in a bill offered by him today.

He will ask that the committee add, as a second title to his bill, the rate increase bill that was reported last Feb. 25.

This rate bill, proposing to raise first, second and third class postage, is geared to raise an additional $233,280,000 in revenues.

It would boost the allowable per diem for employees in the transportation service for the present rate of $6 a day to $9.

It would provide a uniform allowance of $100 a year for postal workers who must wear them.

Democrats Fight AEC Power Plan

Private Contract
Hit as Costly

WASHINGTON, July 8.—A group of Senate Democrats agreed today to press for amendment of the atomic law to prohibit the Atomic Energy Commission from contracting for private electric power.

The effort is directed at stopping the AEC from carrying out President Eisenhower's order that the commission negotiate a contract with a private power combine to supply power to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The power to come from a $107,250,000 plant to be constructed at West Memphis, Ark., would feed energy to that TVA system as replacement for some 600,000 kilowatts now being furnished by TVA to the atomic plant at Paducah, Ky. The contract would be for 25 years.

HIGH COST HIT
Opponents charge the plan will cost the government from $30,000,000 to $150,000,000 more than other means of getting the same amount of power and that it is a move to block further expansion of TVA as a regional development.

Democrats leading the fight are chiefly southern members from the TVA service area. They will ask the support of all Democrats in a forthcoming Democratic policy conference.

The decision to fight for the ban on the Senate floor came as the Tennessee Valley Public Power Assn. told the President that his proposal was "an effort to sell this area back to the power trust."

An association letter, signed by its president, R. V. Taylor, was placed in the Congressional Record this afternoon by Sen. Hill,

Goldwyn Pays Million For 'Guys and Dolls'

HOLLYWOOD, July 8.—Movie producer Samuel Goldwyn disclosed tonight he had purchased the motion picture rights to the hit Broadway musical "Guys and Dolls" for more than a million dollars.

The producer said he has engaged Joseph L. Mankiewicz to write and direct the picture.

CONSTRUCTION LAGS

The association, which includes 148 municipalities and cooperatively owned power systems as members that get power from TVA, told the President that for the second year construction of new TVA capacity was being permitted to lag behind demand.

Nevertheless, it went on, the area would rather bear the burden of this power shortage "than to start down a road which, in our judgment, can only lead to mounting economic waste and multiplying obstacles to sound regional development."

Polio War Calling for $20 Million

CHICAGO, July 8.—Polio workers from throughout the nation met today to discuss plans for coping with a financial emergency which officials said threatens the work of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Basil O'Connor, foundation president, told about 200 state and city representatives that a minimum of 20 million dollars must be raised in the emergency March of Dimes this August to continue polio work without interruption.

O'Connor said insufficient funds were collected in the last March of Dimes to carry on the program of polio prevention and patient aid.

He added that the 20 million dollars sought is the difference between the original 1954 polio need of 75 million dollars and the 55 million actually raised last January.

Sweltering Jax Police Get Chief Shelved

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 8.—Police Chief Sherman Cannon was suspended for five days today because he didn't order summer uniforms for the city's sweltering patrolmen.

Mayor Haydon Burns said Cannon was guilty of "inexcusable inefficiency and incompetency."

N. J. Town Bars Ralph Flanagan For Nude Stroll

VENTNOR, N.J., July 8.—Bandleader Ralph Flanagan was arrested today for strolling nude on the beach.

The bobbysox idol, who refused at first to identify himself, was fined $50 by Judge Raymond F. Stark for disorderly conduct. He was also ordered to stay out of Ventnor.

Court attaches reported that Flanagan said he had been drinking. He was not charged with drunkenness.

Democrats leading the fight are chiefly southern members from the TVA service area. They will ask the support of all Democrats in a forthcoming Democratic policy conference.

Zone Decision Is Goal At Board Meet Today

By HERMAN HANCOCK

The Municipal Planning Board Friday will attempt to settle on land-use and zoning regulations for unincorporated areas of Fulton County.

Max M. Cuba, board chairman, has called the session for 2 p.m. at the City Hall, and says the board will consider requests for changes in recommendations made by Harland Bartholomew & Associates. Two public hearings were held at the courthouse, and citizens from the northern and southern areas appeared to urge certain revisions.

"We are going to canvass the requests and discuss them with Bartholomew engineers in the hope that we can arrive at a definite decision on which to base our recommendations," Cuba said.

Cuba added he hopes the entire program can be settled within the next few weeks and that final recommendations can be filed shortly with Fulton commissioners and the Atlanta Aldermanic Board for final passage.

"We believe the over-all program is good and that the recommendations generally are fair and for the best interests of fast-growing Atlanta," Cuba said. "The engineers spent many months studying Atlanta, its needs and its probable future before filing its report. We believe some changes probably would be made, but that generally the recommendations should be adopted."

Election of Principals

Several new principals will be elected at the July meeting of the Atlanta Board of Education at 7:30 p.m. Monday. Miss Ira Jarrell, school superintendent, indicated Thursday. She said she will have recommendations ready for the board session, but that no announcement could be made prior to that time.

Sanitary Battle Failing

City Sanitary Engineer Stafford Graydon said Thursday his division is fighting a losing battle and is falling progressively behind as a result of mounting summer garbage and increase for collection of yard debris. He added that every facility of the division is trying to keep abreast of demands. Garbage tonnage is nearing an all-time high and slowly will demand more and more equipment and covered the church kitchen was closed.

The Rev. Mr. Fain, who had to catch a plane for Moultrie, went to his hotel to pack his bag and Mr. Craft accompanied him. They had been back only a few minutes when a member of the jury appeared and announced the verdict in five minutes.

"Is that a woman's five minutes or a preacher's five minutes?" Mr. Craft asked.

A mild argument ensued over the difference between a woman's five minutes and a preacher's five minutes—a discussion which the Rev. Mr. Holland resolved with a joke about an optimist being a woman who puts her shoes back on in church when she hears the minister say, "And, finally..." Then the jury came in.

Woman Struck By Car Dies; Toll In City at 31

Mrs. Jeanette Lashley, 55, of 2340 Nelms Dr., SW, struck down by a car eight days ago on the South Expressway near Lakewood Avenue, SE, died Thursday night at Grady Hospital.

The death brought fatalities for the year in Atlanta to 31, compared with 21 for a similar period last year.

Patrolmen R. N. Hagan and R. E. Avery said Mrs. Lashley ran across the expressway into the path of a car driven by Merrill Harris, 25, of Senoia, a salesman. Patrolmen said no charge was placed against Harris.

Bank Tax Test Hearing Here Due July 30

A hearing on what is regarded by parties involved as a test case of a Georgia Supreme Court ruling on local taxation of national bank branches has been set for July 30 by Fulton Superior Judge George P. Whitman.

The hearing, scheduled for 9:30 a.m., will involve action by T. E. Suttles, Fulton County tax commissioner, to collect $80,981.04 in taxes on property of The Citizens and Southern National Bank here, and the bank's answering petition.

Hearing was set after bank attorneys filed answer Thursday to an execution filed by Suttles in court Wednesday.

Suttles' execution alleges the bank is liable for 1953 personal property taxes on a large accounting machine located at the bank's Mitchell street office.

The bank's answer, however, claims that under Georgia law and the Supreme Court ruling, the bank is liable only for taxes on its Fulton County real estate, and for taxes on shares of stock payable in Chatham County where its main office is located.

Bank officials interpret the court ruling—involving a case between the Richmond County tax collector and the C. and S. National Bank—as meaning tax on stock shares are required to be paid only in the county where the bank's home office is located.

In seeking to collect its levy, the bank petition claims, Fulton is seeking to again tax shares on which taxes were paid.

SILVERY GRAY WORSTED COTTON—SPANS ALL THE SEASONS
Shirley Jennings Models Fashion With A Flare

IT'S PLAIN AS BACK AND WHITE . . .
"Transition" Cotton Worn by Margaret Garrett

Future 'Dark' for Fashions

By JEAN DIETRICH
Women asked for it.

And now they've got it—a wide selection of dark city cottons.

This is one time no one can accuse women of following dress designers in Pied Piper fashion. For years city girls have cried for dark cottons—something smart for the office and fashionable for fall hot weather.

Designers began responding to the refrain a few seasons back. But this year they pulled out all the stops and placed special emphasis on what they call "transition" cottons.

Three dresses pictured will be good the year around. Charcoal cotton top with wide white V-collar and cuffs has a built-in back belt and high Empire bodice.

Silvery gray cotton with low round neckline, banded in white.

Teenagers Plan Annual Workshop

Teen-agers will plan their own community recreation programs at the ninth annual Youth Workshop to be held at Georgia Teachers College in Statesboro August 3-7.

Sponsored by the Georgia Recreation Society, the workshop will have as its theme "Building Better Citizens for Tomorrow."

Shirley Roach and Garnett Dale are serving on the Youth Board of Directors.

The program will include discussions on "Boy and Girl Relationships in Everyday Living" led by Mrs. D. L. Deal of Statesboro, "Youth Center Clinic" led by Miss Florence Moore of LaGrange and "What Business Expects from the Youth of Today" by Charles M. Robbins, past president of the Georgia Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Interest groups will be held in public relations, water pageantry stunts, tennis and teen-age leadership training.

Evening sessions will be devoted to vespers services, parties, watermelon cuttings and other entertainment.

Serving on the Youth Board of directors are Sue Williams, chairman from LaGrange, Marlene Holley, LaGrange; Garnett Dale and Shirley Roach, Atlanta; Jimmy Bryan and Marcia Drury, Brunswick, and Bee Carroll, Statesboro.

Miss Katherine Horkan Weds Henry Metz at Holland Vows

"Town Topics" in the Washington Post carries the announcement made by those former Atlantans, Maj. Gen. George Anthony Horkan, U.S. Army Retired, and Mrs. Horkan of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Katherine Horkan, to Henry Hubertis Metz of The Netherlands.

The couple met five years ago when the bride was living in Heidelberg, Germany, where her father was Chief Quartermaster of the European Command. Known as Kay to her intimate friends, she returned to America and New York to become a successful special feature writer.

Miss Horkan and Mr. Metz were married in Hilversum, Holland. Mr. Metz will take his bride again to Heidelberg for residence where he has an international exchange.

Mrs. Horkan, the bride's mother, is the former Mary Thompson of Atlanta and the sister of Mrs. Charles T. Pottinger. Gen. Horkan is a native of Augusta.

Mermaids' Manners Miserable

By JEAN ROONEY

Here's sand in your eye! There's no going against the grain of it. You're sure to get "sanded" unless this summer's vacationing beach combers are an unusually thoughtful lot.

With Atlanta gaining a man-made beach at East Lake Country Club and another about seventy miles off in the Ida Cason Callaway Gardens, beach etiquette is worth considering.

NEEDS RULE BOOK

The old-style Southern belle had shaded-veranda manners. Today's Rebel lass needs a rule book on sunning demeanor.

And she might pass it among her water loving friends, especially those with a knack for persecuting their surf-side neighbors.

Heading the list of "sun worshippers" most bathers would happily sacrifice is the gal who stomps up the beach, leaving a cloud of sand in her wake.

She tromps across strangers' towels; then shakes the sand out of her own into their hair.

Not only grit, but everything about this beauty gets in her neighbors' hair.

Number Two on the purge list is the surf bather who brings her brood to the seashore and turns them loose for the populace to entertain. The little dears wait until their neighbors are dozing to play bulldozer around their umbrella. And they thoughtfully leave their playthings, shovels up, along with upturned bottle caps to catch the bare feet of passers by.

CLUTTER BUGS

Clutter bugs are beach pests Number Three. They're the ones who consume a constant stream of food, discarding the left-overs over the countryside.

Beach picnickers are necessary to the surfside atmosphere, but they don't need to leave souvenirs of the picnic behind.

They add to the beach scenery, anyway.

The over-exposed cuties are among the numberless other beach bores.

They forget that the Bikini was designed for the Riviera and they're usually the gals with an overabundance of epidermis.

Only consolation is: They make good conversation—the unprintable kind!

Celestine Sibley Shirt Ironing Must Be a Vice

They needn't think they're going to cheer me up with the little items they send through the mail these days. The weather's hot and friends who lent us electric fans last year came and took them back. And there's that hole in the screen that mosquitoes have evidently taken as their own Peachtree street, jamming it with winged traffic like every night was Friday night and all the stores were open.

On the whole I feel like complaining and complain I will, no matter how nice Marilyn Monroe would act in my place.

That's really what's irking me, if you want to know. The latest dispatches on Marilyn. Now I've always championed Miss Monroe in my conversations with women. (Men somehow don't need to hear what I think about her, feeling secure in their own reactions to her. Secure, or something.)

Anyway, all my friends can tell you I've always said Marilyn Monroe was really a most delightful young woman and I personally believed she was every bit as good—but not as bad—as she looks. A smart girl, I said. And funny. And I've enjoyed two or three interviews with her although I never would have hired her as a baby sitter or mother's helper at my house, like some Los Angeles women did.

Yes, I liked Marilyn Monroe—but that certainly is in the past now. Now that they've started sending out little stories about what a homeloving, housekeeping wife she is.

For a long time I've been able to get out of some of the drudgery at home by snarling, "Me mop the bathroom? Do you think Marilyn Monroe has to come home and mop?"

(Whatever answer occurs to them on such occasions they are afraid to voice.)

The same thing was true of ironing shirts. I kept my men-folks in tee-shirts by whining: "Who do you think is going to do all that IRONING? Why, I betcha Marilyn Monroe would never iron a shirt!"

Now comes one of those pushy little press releases to the effect that Marilyn Monroe has confided to Sidney Skolsky that she's just mad about ironing Joe DiMaggio's shirts.

"I like to iron Joe's shirts," reads this thing. "He doesn't want me to. And often I haven't the time. But I do once in a while. I like to look at Joe in a shirt I ironed, especially the collar. There's no one who can iron a shirt—especially the collar—like I can."

How do you like that?

Of all the things that come under the head of woman's work, shirt ironing is the most dismal, the most boring, the most fiendishly complicated! The rest of us have devoted a whole generation—ever since Mama's cook's aged auntie, the community's peerless shirt ironer died, to be exact—to indoctrinating our men-folks in the theory that shirt ironing was beyond us. We could do nearly anything else that fell to hand, we pleaded, but the shirts—leave 'em to the laundry.

That, I suspect, is how the sport shirt industry got started. That was the beginning of tee-shirts and all those brief and gaudy glimpses men have started wearing. As a result our men are cooler and more comfortable, the laundry is simpler and we'd all be happy all around... except for Marilyn Monroe.

Now what I want to know is why she had to open her mouth about shirt ironing? If the story is true—and, mindful of the libel laws, I won't question it—why couldn't she keep it to herself? If she's crazy about standing over a hot iron fighting a diabolical mess of buttons and collars and cuffs, why couldn't she do it in secret? We're all entitled to our secret vices and I think it would be just dandy if Marilyn Monroe's secret vice turned out to be shirt ironing.

Miss Perkins Is Married At Church

NASHVILLE, Ga., July 7 — Miss Jo Ann Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Perkins, was married to Joseph Kirk Leaphart of Greenville, S.C., at an afternoon ceremony solemnized by Dr. Howard Giddens at the Nashville Baptist Church.

After the service Mr. and Mrs. Perkins entertained at a reception at their home on Adel Road. Mr. Perkins gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's twin sister, Miss Jo Beth Perkins, was her maid of honor and only attendant.

In the double role of usher-groomsman were Jake Cupit of Swainsboro, S.C.; D. W. Hiett and B. O. Hiett of Greenville, S.C., and Brock Conrad of Orangeburg, S.C. Dane Perkins was junior groomsman.

Both Mr. Leaphart and his bride are graduates of Furman University. The latter was president of the student body for two years, and upon graduation in June, she received the "Award of Excellence," the highest honor given at Furman. Mr. Leaphart was an SAE at Furman. He is employed by Steel Heddle Manufacturing Co. of Greenville where the couple will reside.

Summer Slimmers Wake Up

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Summer is made for slimming. By the by, how many summers have you dallied with the day dream of spending lazy weeks in some de luxe slimming camp? You would emerge a few weeks later beautifully streamlined and looking 10 years younger.

Or, if you are a 9-to-5 career gal, you conclude that fascinating as the de luxe slimming plan is, the rate of exchange is startlingly expensive.

TRICK OF MIND

Brace yourself—that wishful thinking is only a trick of the mind, a pleasant form of escapism.

Wake up! You do not have to put up with excess pounds another summer. Of course it would be pleasant to have soothing massage, scientifically designed exercise, and low calorie meals luxuriously served. But what would do the actual reducing? Less food. You can eat less and slim down beautifully staying right at home.

BEST TIME IS SUMMER

If the budget permits, take advantage of the summer specials on passive exercise treatments or body massage. While it is the diet that does the reducing, anything that improves the circulation and helps keep tissues firm is all to the good.

Summer is the best time to start taking off weight. In hot weather, fat is insufferable, and this discomfort puts you in the mood to deal firmly with the pounds. Through the years, I have found that overweights who start reducing with our summer slimming course not only finish the season weighing less, but often go happily along with the protective pattern of eating to control weight.

If you are considerably above normal weight, make an appointment with your doctor for a checkup. He'll approve your decision to reduce.

Monday starts our three weeks' summer slimming adventure. The low calorie menus are scientifically planned to help you slim down and cool off. The exercises apply kinesiology to streamline your measurements with double the results for half the effort.

Cautious Market Continues Mixed

Irregular for Second Day; AP Average Off 10 Cents

NEW YORK, July 8 (U. S. P.)—The stock market traversed a cautious route of irregularity today, its second such session following two days of strongly advancing prices. Most of the day the market just backed and filled rather aimlessly. Prices seldom got far away from their starting point. At the most, the range of change was around 2 points in key sections. Mostly lower were the steels, motors, chemicals and electrical equipments. Tending higher were the rubbers, aircrafts, building materials, coppers, and utilities. The railroads and radio-televsions were mixed. The market's drive ahead on Friday and Tuesday sent it to a new high for the year, the best since Oct. 22, 1929. The forward surge was a little surprising, but the irregular reaction that followed was not unexpected. Many brokers have come to the conclusion that the market now is liable to be subjected to periodic retracements of a routine nature. But they warn that the peak the market has reached Union Rejects 4-Day Week Of Harvester Co.

CHICAGO, July 8 (U)—A four-day work week in lieu of layoffs was proposed today by International Harvester Co. to unions at "a number" of the firm's farm equipment and truck manufacturing plants.

The proposal brought a quick rejection from the Independent Farm Equipment Workers, which represents many Harvester workers. A company spokesman said CIO-UAW representatives, which also represents a large number of Harvester workers, were meeting in Indianapolis to discuss the proposal.

Current contracts between the unions and Harvester provide for a five-day week.

The four-day week was proposed because of a continued drop in sales of farm equipment and trucks, the company spokesman said. He said the only alternative is a layoff of some workers at "a number" of plants.

Fulton Bank Hits All-Time 6-Month High

The Fulton National Bank of Atlanta has just completed its best operation for a six-month period in the history of the bank. President Erie Cocke said Thursday.

The bank's deposits, resources and earnings reached all-time official highs for such a period, he told the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors.

He said that deposits as of June 30, 1934, were $143,288,022, an increase of $8,535,022 over the figure of June 30, 1933. Cocke reported that the bank had profits in excess of 23 per cent over the similar period last year.

RESOURCES RECORD

Clarence Haverly, chairman of the board, said the bank's resources of $153,984,711 were also an all-time high at the end of the first half of 1934. He said this was due to both the increased deposits and the recent increase in the bank's capital structure in January of this year. The capital, surplus, undivided profits and reserves, he pointed out, are now over 10 million dollars.

Cocke announced three promotions: William A. White Jr., assistant cashier of the main office, to assistant vice president; Edgar H. Green Jr., who has been in the personal loan department at the main office, to assistant cashier; and Hazel Martin, at the Buckhead office, to assistant cashier.

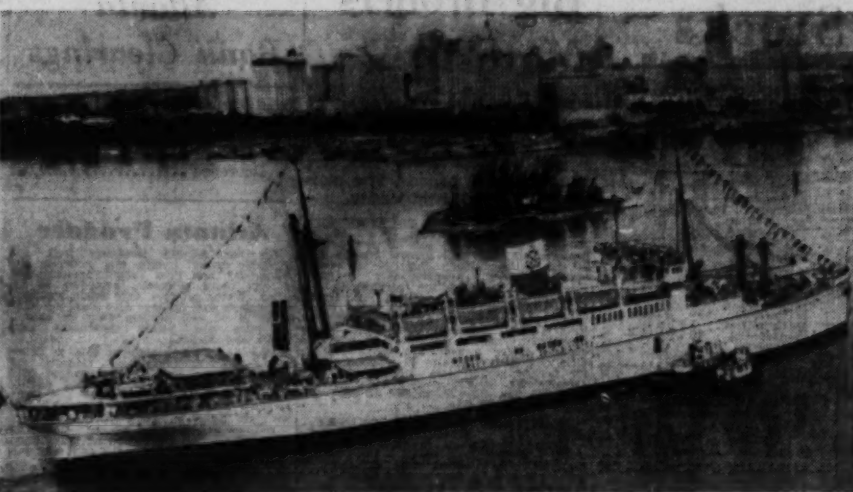

7 YEARS WITH BANK

White has been with the bank for seven years and has been an officer since July 1931. He is a graduate of Boys' High School and attended the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia.

Green has worked with the bank for five years. He is a graduate of Marietta College and the University of Georgia.

Miss Martin has worked at the Buckhead office since 1941. She is a graduate of Chamblee High School and Crichton's Business College, and is the third woman to be elected an officer of the bank.

President Cocke reported that the steel work on the new building at Marietta and Forsyth streets was now complete. He said the interior of the bank's main lobby had been roughed in and the reinforced concrete work was complete on the bank's three vaults.

TALKIN' TURKEY—MIAMI, July 8—The Turkish goodwill ship Tarsus steamed into Miami Harbor today for a three-day visit by 500 representatives of Turkish industry and culture. The Turks are on an extensive world tour to tell about their country, will visit Charleston, Washington, Philadelphia and New York.

Cotton Climbs On Crop Data

NEW YORK, July 8 (U)—Cotton futures turned firm today as traders placed a constructive interpretation on the government report on 1934 cotton acreage.

Trade and commission house buying extended gains to $1.40 a bale before the market reacted partially on profit-taking and hedging. Final prices were 5 cents to $1 a bale higher. The Department of Agriculture estimated cotton acreage this year at 19,961,000 acres.

This compares with the national cotton acreage of 21,379,000 acres and 25,440,000 acres in cultivation on July 1 last year when there were no crop restrictions. The report today was only slightly under the average of recent private surveys. However, traders took the view anything short of a high yield crop would be insufficient to cover probable export and domestic needs next season. Some merchants expressed the belief that the acreage cutback probably spells the end of the cotton surplus buildup, with chances favoring some reduction in the nation's stocks over the next year.

On the basis of the past five years' average yields, the 1934 crop would amount to 11,400,000 running bales. The March, May and July deliveries of the 1934 crop trading months led the advance today, partly on aggressive buying by leading spot firms. Gains in near months were checked by trade selling.

General Farm Bill Due To Set Off Senate Battle

WASHINGTON, July 8 (U)—The Senate Agriculture Committee has completed work today on a new general farm bill which is certain to touch off a bitter Senate battle over rigid versus flexible price supports.

The committee ironed out several key provisions at a 2½-hour secret session this afternoon. Among other things, it reversed an earlier decision and voted 7 to 1 to make price supports mandatory on barley, oats, rye and sorghums.

It also voted to raise the "normal" carryover for corn and wheat. This would permit larger stockpiles before corn production controls became necessary and would mean an increase of about two percentage points in wheat supports if a flexible support system goes into effect next year.

The committee voted to fix the "normal" carryover for corn at 15 per cent of the total crop in-

Athens Man Donates $150 To Aid Blind Minister Buy New Leader Dog

MOBILE, Ala., July 8 (U)—An Athens, Ga., broker tonight donated the final $150 necessary to buy a new leader dog for the Rev. Reese W. Farnell Jr., blind minister whose dog was accidentally killed last week.

W. C. Thornton presented a check to Clyde Reynolds, who has been handling the fund. The $150 raised the total to the $400 necessary to buy another dog.

Officers said a neighbor mistook the minister's dog for another which had killed a pet rabbit and shot him. The Rev. Farnell was visiting his wife at a hospital at the time.

He is pastor of the Hannah Baptist Church.

quest for supports ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity and the House-approved "catchall" farm bill under which supports would range from 82½ to 90 per cent.

Aiken said his proposed 80 per cent in other actions, the committee:

1. Reversed a previous decision and voted 8 to 7 to put barley, oats, rye and sorghum under mandatory price supports at varying levels. All these crops

Dam To Flood Lawrenceville Reservoir

THE TEXT OF U. S. DIST. JUDGE BOYD SLOAN'S JUDGMENT IN THE CONTROVERSIAL GOLF SUIT FOLLOWS:

"The refusing to allow plaintiffs and others similarly situated, to make use of, on a substantially equal basis with white citizens of municipal facilities for playing golf is to practice a forbidden discrimination. It is therefore,

"Considered, ordered and adjudged that the defendants, and each of them, their agents, employees and servants to be, and they are hereby restrained and enjoined from refusing to allow plaintiffs and other Negroes similarly situated, because they are Negroes, to make use of, on a substantially equal basis with white citizens of the municipal facilities for playing golf.

"The effect of this judgment will be for a reasonable time and until further order of this court,

The dam will flood a 19.5-acre area, and the reservoir should fill between January and May, engineers estimate, depending on the amount of rainfall. Its first purpose is to serve as a storage basin for emergency use.

City officials said that the reservoir is to be a permanent part of the city's water system.

The dam is constructed of 33,000 cubic yards of earth, is 800 feet long, and 30 feet at its deepest point.

be postponed in order that the defendants may be afforded a reasonable opportunity to promptly prepare and put into effect regulations for the use of the municipal golf facilities which, while preserving segregation, will be in full and fair accord with its principles.

"This principle is that the admissibility of laws separating the races in the enjoyment of privileges afforded by the state rest wholly upon the equality of the privileges which the laws give to the separated groups within the state.

"In applying these principles, that equality of treatment of white and colored citizens must be afforded which will secure to both, complete and full recognition, that under the Constitution and laws, there are not two classes of citizens, a first and a second, but one class, with all of equal rank in respect of their rights and privileges to use and enjoy facilities provided at public expense for public use.

"It is further ordered and adjudged that defendants pay all costs."

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf from an old book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and faint, dark spots, characteristic of old paper. The page is framed by dark borders on the top and bottom, suggesting it is part of a bound volume. There is no text or other markings on the page.

HEADQUARTERS FOR CHEVROLET CARS AND TRUCKS

Six Ways Better

1. Thoroughly Inspected
2. Reconditioned for Safety
3. Reconditioned for Performance
4. Reconditioned for Value
5. Honestly Described
6. Dealer Warranty in Writing

We invite you to compare our cars and prices to prove we offer a better value in today's used car market—from the safety born of expert inspection to the economy built on thorough reconditioning—from the thrill of pep and power to the assurance of honest treatment as prescribed by us for over 85 years.

Yes, if you want a better buy see our selection of 1953, 1952 and 1951 passenger cars and trucks in a choice of body styles and colors. Our "Better Than a Guarantee Plan" protects you—the buyer cannot lose.

Inspect and drive our cars—All are plainly priced—Open evenings for your convenience.

'Dog Tag' Counter Sought To Measure Radiation

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

A small, inexpensive device to measure radiation exposure that could be worn like a dog tag or bracelet is being sought by scientists, Dr. H. D. Bruner, head of the department of physiology at Emory University School of Medicine, said Thursday.

If worn by all possible victims of atomic bombing, such devices would be "of tremendous help" to physicians treating bomb casualties, Dr. Bruner said.

The Emory doctor is one of 13 experts on various aspects of radiation who are speakers at a two-day regional conference on defense against radiological warfare at Georgia Tech. The conference, attended by some 100 civil defense officials from seven Southeastern states, will continue through Friday.

DOSIMETERS EXPENSIVE

Dr. Bruner said several types of dosimeters—small instruments to detect and measure radiation—already have been developed. But they are fairly expensive, need recharging and are not practical for distribution to the entire population.

Devices to measure total exposure of patients to radiation would help physicians divide patients into classes, Dr. Bruner said. He named the classes of radiation victims as: (1) those who will live with minor illness, (2) those who may live or may not and (3) those who probably will die.

Dr. Bruner said there is no specific treatment for radiation sickness—and no "wonder drug" to combat it. He said treatment must be "supportive," meaning the doctors must note abnormal signs or symptoms and treat them according to standard medical practice.

Transfusions of blood, plasma or substitutes may benefit the radiation victim, he said.

Symptoms of a "medium degree" of radiation sickness include nausea, weakness, listlessness, mental confusion and depression. Later symptoms may include skin infections, colon infections, fever, diarrhea and hemorrhages, Dr. Bruner said.

Dr. Bruner, chief scientist at Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies from 1949 until he came to Emory in 1952, said a three-month period is usually sufficient to tell whether a victim of radiation sickness will recover or not.

DISCUSS PROBLEMS

John H. Tolan, research physicist of the Georgia Tech Engineering Experiment Station who is co-ordinator of the conference, said the meeting is designed to enable civil defense officials to "discuss common problems of radiological defense."

Discussing existing devices to detect and measure radiation exposure, Tolan said a pencil-shaped dosimeter now available costs about $45. He said it could be used by civil defense officials to determine when they have had enough radiation and should leave the bombed area.

The Friday session will begin at 9 a.m. with reports by states on their programs of radiological defense training. W. J. Lacy of Ft. Belvoir, Va., Engineer Research and Development Laboratory, will speak on "Food and Water Monitoring Techniques and Decontamination."

Lowe Pledges Georgians Should Push Milk Sales, Linder Says

A Vigorous Campaign

Atlanta attorney Wyman C. Lowe, one of three Fifth District congressional candidates in the Sept. 8 primary, said Thursday he would wage a vigorous campaign for the office.

Lowe said in general he would take a "middle-of-the-road" stand on most international, national and local issues.

The 49-year-old attorney is young for the nomination with incumbent Rep. James C. Davis and Morris Abram, another Atlanta attorney.

Lowe said he would have a larger campaign fund than he has had in previous races for the Congressional post. He said his campaign expenditures in 1950 were only about one-fifth those of Davis and in 1952 about one-eighth those of Davis and C. Baxter Jones Jr., the third candidate.

Lowe said if elected he would: Work for the interests of organized labor, aiming at amendments to the Taft-Hartley Law he said were needed.

Favor increased social security benefits for persons over 65 years of age and coverage for other groups above that sponsored by the Republicans.

Staggered increases in per person income tax exemptions, up to $1,200 in 1957, and the obtaining of needed revenues by other methods.

Employ all "honorable means" to avert a new World War. Obtain more Federal aid for education in the South.

Work for 90 per cent of parity for farm products.

MACON, July 8 (AP)—Gubernatorial candidate Tom Linder told Georgia dairymen here today he favors expansion of the state's marketing system to help them in the promotion and sale of dairy products.

The agricultural commissioner was one of three state officials to speak at the one-day meeting of the Georgia Milk Producers' Cooperative Assn. Gov. Herman Talmadge and Charles Duncan, chairman of the State Milk Control Board, also offered their ideas on how to sell more milk at good prices.

Linder apparently scored a hit with the milk men when he indicated he thought the state should pay for an advertising campaign for milk and milk products from regular taxes rather than from fees paid in by the dairy producers and distributors.

He proposed the possibility of setting up markets in other states, citing West Virginia in particular, where Georgia products could be shipped by the carload lots for sale at the point of consumption. While Linder's speech was billed as nonpolitical, his talk was liberally sprinkled with such phrases as "it shall be my purpose" and "I shall urge the legislature."

Gov. Talmadge said the government, the distributor and the producer must all cooperate if Georgia dairying conditions are to be improved.

"The government must do its part by trading in surplus dairy products, the distributor must do his part by efficient marketing and advertising and the farmer must do his part by culling deficient animals from his dairy herd," the governor said.

All three of the speakers described the present dairying condition as "critical" because of the present drought.

Duncan said two weeks ago there was a general surplus of milk in the state but at the present time there is an acute shortage of milk in certain areas. He said surplus milk from some areas is now being transferred to the areas of shortage. But he warned if the drought continues, milk may have to be imported from other states.

Duncan said he has "been in the middle" ever since he has been chairman of the price-fixing milk board and after January he will not be holding office, regardless of who is governor.

He said health reasons prevented him from seeking the office of commissioner of agriculture in this year's primary.

Students estimate that Americans spend an average 10 percent of their incomes for the operation of automobiles.

Ford's new "I" is the most modern Six in the industry!

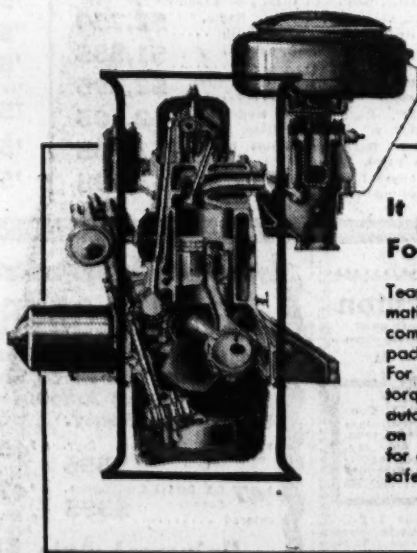

Your fun begins when you try the "I"

Ford's new 115-h.p. I-block Six is the only low-friction, deep-block six in any car. And it really pays dividends in driving fun... savings, too!

Just one brief session behind the wheel of Ford's new I-block Six and you'll never settle for less! For here is the kind of "Go" you've always dreamed about: quick, effortless power through the whole range of driving speeds. It's smoother, quieter power, too, because Ford's deep-block design virtually eliminates vibration. And it's savingful power all the way. For Ford's short-stroke design cuts gas-wasting friction to a minimum. . . teams with Ford's high-turbulence combustion chambers to bring you more "Go" per gallon.

And, of course, you get all the other features that make Ford the "Worth More" car.

No matter what your taste in body styles, there's a Ford to suit you to a "T." For Ford offers 14 different body styles . . . available with either the I-block Six or Y-block V-8 . . . the greatest choice of models (28) on the market. And in every model, you get such Ford exclusives in the low-price field as easier-handling Ball-Joint Front Suspension, easier-working suspended foot pedals, a huiltight Crestmark Body and a new, see-at-a-glance Astra-Dial Control Panel.

It really stars with Fordomatic Drive*

Team your I-block Six with Fordomatic and you have the most completely automatic "power package" in the low-price field. For in addition to its smooth, fluid torque converter and responsive automatic gears, Fordomatic has an automatic intermediate gear for extra easy passing and extra-safe down-hill going.

THERE'S NEVER A DULL VEGETABLE PLATE WITH CORN, BEANS, AND TOMATOES AROUND
Tomatoes Are Stuffed with Tasty Mixture of Beans and Flavorings, High in Protein Value

ORDER OF THE DAY

Vegetable Plates
Reach Season PeakBy JEANNE HIGGINS
Constitution Food Editor

In the good ole summertime, when there's never a dull vegetable...

Vegetables served attractively and with stimulating flavor contrasts add much to warm-weather meals. With milk, butter, cheese, sour cream, eggs and seasonings, there's no reason for today's vegetable dish to resemble one of the day before.

Cauliflower, cooked until just tender and served with a butter-crumbsauce is an appetizing treat. With this, serve carrots cooked in a minted glaze.

CAULIFLOWER CRUMBLE

1 medium head cauliflower
1/2 cup butter, melted
1 cup fresh bread crumbs
1 hard-cooked egg
2 teaspoons chopped parsley
1. Divide cauliflower into 6 sections. 2. Cook in boiling, slightly salted water until tender, about 20 minutes. 3. To make sauce, melt butter in skillet and brown bread crumbs slowly. 4. When brown add chopped egg and parsley, season to taste and serve hot over cauliflower. Serves six.

MINT GLAZED CARROTS

3 cups cooked carrot strips
1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon mint jelly

1. Simmer carrots in mixture of other ingredients until glazed. 2. Serve with glazing sauce.

LIMA STUFFED TOMATOES

6 large tomatoes
1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup tomato pulp and juice
1/2 cup milk
1 cup grated cheese
2 cups cooked large dry limas
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of tabasco

1. Wash tomatoes and remove thin slice from stem ends. 2. Remove seeds and pulp. 3. Sprinkle insides with salt and let stand upside down 10 minutes. 4. Brown onion lightly in butter. 5. Stir in flour. Add tomato pulp and milk. 6. Cook and stir over low heat until smooth. Blend in Cheese. 7. Add remaining ingredients and heap into tomatoes. 8. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes or until tomatoes are tender. Serves six.

SUMMER MANEUVERS

Fresh Vegetables Vie for Freezer

With vegetable gardens "busting out all over" these summer days, there's no time like now to brush up on the "how-to's" of freezing vegetables.

1. Carefully select choice grades of vegetables for the freezer, including only those in perfect condition for table use. 2. Pick only as many as you can process and place in the freezer within two hours. 3. Gather the vegetables in the cool of the morning, before they have absorbed much heat from the sun. 4. Then prepare for the freezer as you would for the table: wash thoroughly and remove over-ripe or immature ones or damaged portions.

BLANCHING

5. Blanch or scald in boiling water. Steam blanching is recommended, because it preserves more vitamins and minerals. 6. Cool in icy water, then drain on absorbent toweling. 7. Package in airtight containers, either rigid, heavily-waxed freezer cartons, glass freezer jars, polyethylene or laminated bags. 8. Then place package in freezer immediately. A package should never stand at room temperature.

9. Quick freeze by placing in direct contact with freezing surface in either upright or chest freezer. 10. Once frozen, store any place in freezer. Because freezing always results in expansion of the food, it is necessary to leave the following head space when using rigid containers: pint cartons—1/4 inch; quart cartons—1/2 inch; glass jars—1 to 1 1/2 inch; tin cans—1 inch.

Outer cardboard cartons may be used a second time, but cellophane bags or liners should not. Pliofilm and polyethylene bags may be washed and reused.

FREEZING VEGETABLES

Here are suggestions for processing and freezing some specific vegetables:

CORN-ON-THE-COB —

Remove husks and silk. Then blanch, five to nine minutes in boiling water, depending on size, six to ten minutes in steam. Cool, drain, wrap each ear separately in freezer cellophane or aluminum foil. Several ears may then be packaged in a plastic bag or wrapped together in freezer paper.

LIMA BEANS—Choose fully mature beans while pods are still green. Before shelling, plunge into boiling water for a minute, then cool in ice water. Shell, then blanch for one to two and a half minutes, depending on size. Cool, drain and package in freezer cartons.

GREEN OR BLACK-EYED PEAS—Select tender, not fully matured peas. To shell easily, plunge in boiling water for one minute, then cool at once in ice water. Shell, then blanch for a minute in boiling water, or two minutes in steam. Cool, drain and package in rigid cartons or plastic bags.

GREEN STUFFED PEPPERS—Leave whole, clean and scoop out seeds. Stuff with your favorite filling. Bake as usual. Wrap while hot in aluminum foil and freeze immediately.

GREEN AND YELLOW WAX BEANS — Select tender pods, with beans slightly unmaturo. Wash thoroughly, remove ends and cut into desired lengths, leave whole, or French. Blanch whole beans in boiling water for two and a half minutes, two minutes for cut; or blanch in steam, three and a half minutes for whole, three for cut, and two for French. Cool, drain, package in desired containers or freezer bags.

SUMMER SQUASH — Select squash with tender rind, small seeds. Wash, then peel if desired. Cut in one-half inch slices. Blanch in boiling water three to three and a half minutes, or in steam, four to four and a half minutes. Cool, drain, then pack in desired freezer containers.

'Do It Yourself' Canning
Stocks Year-Round Pantry

Many families this year will experience the do-it-yourself fun and satisfaction of canning a part of their own food supply according to the Home Canning Institute of America.

Most popular items put up by homemakers are jellies and jams, with fruits, vegetables and berries close behind. One of the items canned more often than any other is tomatoes. They are easy to grow or inexpensive to buy, have high nutritional value—and can be put up in a great variety of ways, including use in chili sauce, ketchup and relishes.

Here's a quick list of how you can make it more fun this year than ever:

1. Plan early. Make a list of the kinds and amounts of food to be canned.

2. Decide what size jars to use. Depending on the number to serve, you may want both pints and quarts of the same food.

3. Get your supplies early—jars, caps, rubbers, etc., while stores have an ample supply.

4. The jars and caps you have should be examined to make sure they're in good condition.

5. Watch your newspaper and check your markets for information on what to can and when.

6. Select only fresh, ripe, tender fruits and vegetables for tops in eating enjoyment.

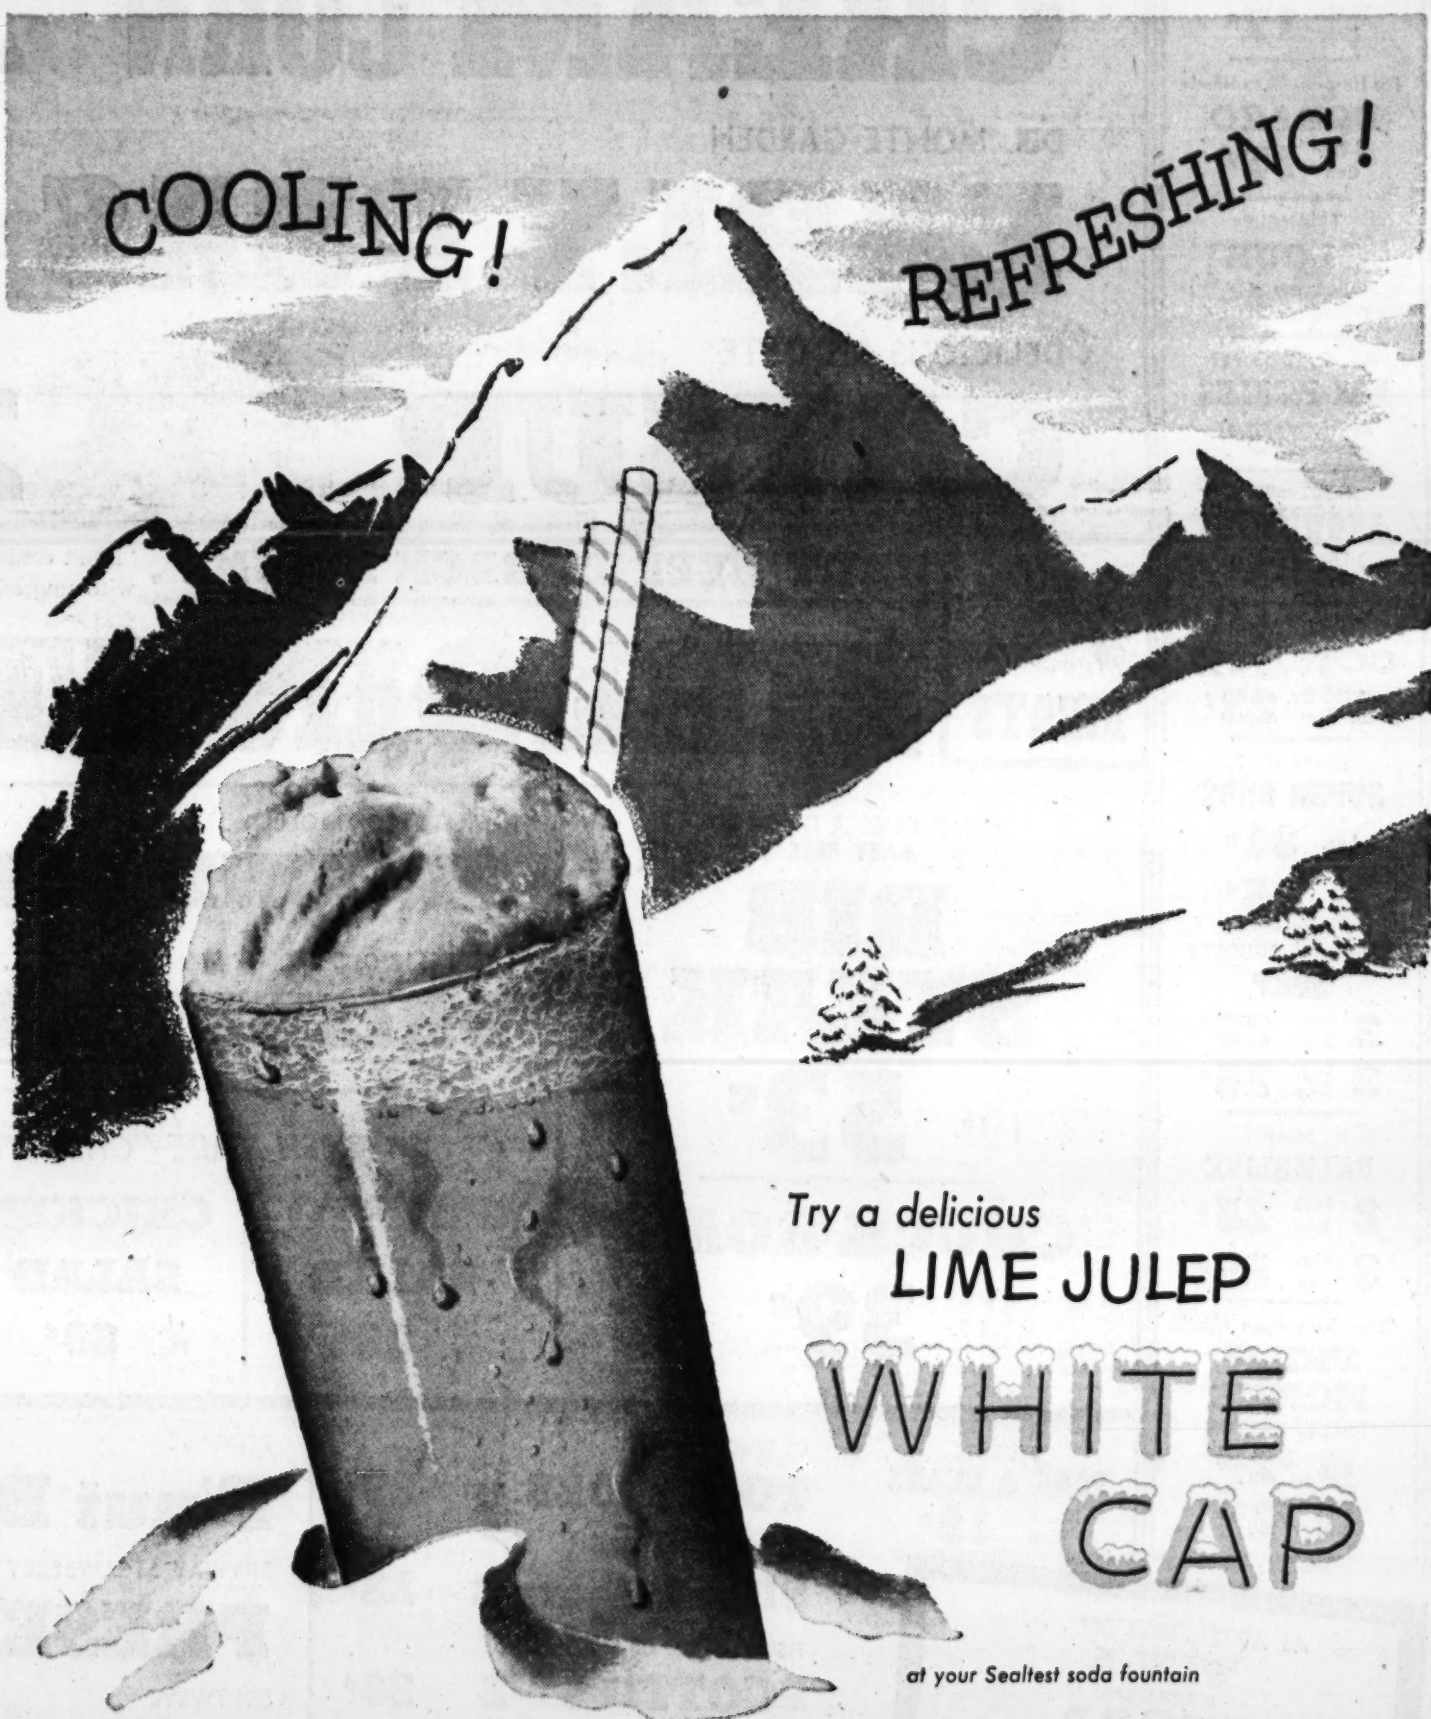

7. The shorter the time from garden to the jar—the better the result.

8. When you're canning, wash and prepare only enough for one canner load at a time.

9. Low-acid foods must be processed in a pressure canner! Acid foods may be processed in a boiling water bath.

Follow the manufacturer's instructions for cleaning and adjusting. See your home demonstration agent if in doubt about condition of equipment.

Scores of excellent instruction books are available for the beginner.

Magnificent Obsession
COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR

OPENING JULY 16th at LOEW'S GRAND THEATRE

From Lloyd C. Douglas... author of "The Robe"... now comes a radiant love story to flood the motion picture screen with the emotional impact of a lifetime... It's MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION... in color by Technicolor... starring JANE WYMAN... ROCK HUDSON... BARBARA RUSH... Brought to you by Universal-International... the studio that gave you "The Glenn Miller Story"... MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION... transferred to the screen with all the dramatic force... the intimacy... the ecstasy that thrilled the countless millions who read the book as a best seller... a picture magnificent in the fullest meaning of the word... Jane Wyman unforgettable as a woman drifting in the world of shadows... Rock Hudson superb as the man she should hate, the man from whom she fled half way around the world... both caught in the maelstrom of a love so compelling no woman will ever forget its power and beauty.

|--|-------------------------------------|
| 6 large fresh peaches, peeled and quartered. | ½ teaspoon salt |
| ¾ cup packed brown sugar | 2 tablespoons Triangle butter |
| 1 tablespoon Triangle butter | 1 Pick of the Nest egg, well beaten |
| 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour | 1/3 cup milk |
| 2 teaspoons baking powder | ¼ cup granulated sugar |
| | 2 tablespoons boiling water |
| | ¼ teaspoon almond extract |

Arrange peaches in a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with brown sugar and dot with the 1 tablespoon butter. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut in the 2 tablespoons butter. Add egg and milk. Mix well. Cover peaches with batter. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, 15 minutes. Remove from oven. Combine granulated sugar, water and extract. Pour over cobbler. Return to oven and bake 15 minutes longer. Serve with thick cream, whipped cream or soft ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

WEEKLY MENUS

Feature Ice Cream in Cooling, Summer Meals

Ice cream is one of the headliners on July's list of plentiful foods.

Not only is ice cream this country's favorite dessert, but housewives will agree that it is one of the easiest of all desserts, or between meal snacks, to serve in any season. Its popularity is proven by the fact that ice cream consumption has more than trebled in the past 20 years.

KROGER CIRCUS of SUMMER VALUES

YOU CAN DEPEND ON TENDERAY!
Yes, lady... you can be sure the Kroger Tenderay steaks or roasts you get are tender every time. Why? Because only top-grade, grain-fattened beef is chosen for Tenderay. Because the original Kroger Tenderay method makes this top-grade beef tender without ageing... without loss of natural flavor and juices. No wonder the Kroger folks guarantee Tenderay Beef to be the world's tenderest, fresh beef—tender 10 times out of ten. Note that Kroger Tenderay Beef is guaranteed fresh—an important assurance these hot summer days. Serve Kroger Tenderay Beef main-dishes often—indoors or outdoors!

Celery Offers Beauty and Flavor to Dish

For picnic fun, sprinkle celery seed on top of deviled eggs for decoration as well as flavor. And once you've witnessed the glamour and flavor contributed by the seeds, you'll find numerous other uses for them.

Try cheese croquettes flavored with celery seed or make a cheese sauce and add a teaspoonful of the seeds.

Sprinkle celery seed over the top of potato, macaroni or bean salad, or mix it in with other ingredients. Add a bit to any type of salad dressing.

Lemon-French Dressing Boasts Dieters' Salads

Many people with good appetites feel sorry for themselves when they contemplate their dressingless salads. They sigh for the French topping they would love if it didn't add too many calories to the day's diet.

Here is a low calorie French dressing. It has no oil, and amounts to only 19 calories per tablespoon as compared with 59 calories for the usual French dressing made with oil.

LEMON FRENCH DRESSING

1 teaspoon plain unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup hot water
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon each, pepper, dry mustard, worcestershire sauce

1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1/4 teaspoon celery seed
Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot water and stir.

HERE'S WHY A&P'S FINE COFFEES ARE NOW ALL PRICED THE SAME!

The biggest factor in determining the price you pay for coffee is the green coffee cost. Conditions in the South American coffee producing countries determine these costs.

Normally, one type of coffee used in Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar cost 2¢ to 4¢ a pound less than the other types used in these blends. We have reflected this difference in the retail prices of these blends.

TODAY THE COST OF THE COFFEES IN THESE BLENDS IS ABOUT THE SAME. THIS IS THE ONLY REASON WHY, TEMPORARILY, WE ARE FORCED TO SELL ALL THREE BLENDS AT THE SAME PRICE.

NO CHANGE in Quality, Flavor or Blend of these Coffees

Coffee Lovers who love a bargain!

The coffee that really is real coffee!

Instant Chase & Sanborn 100% REAL COFFEE!

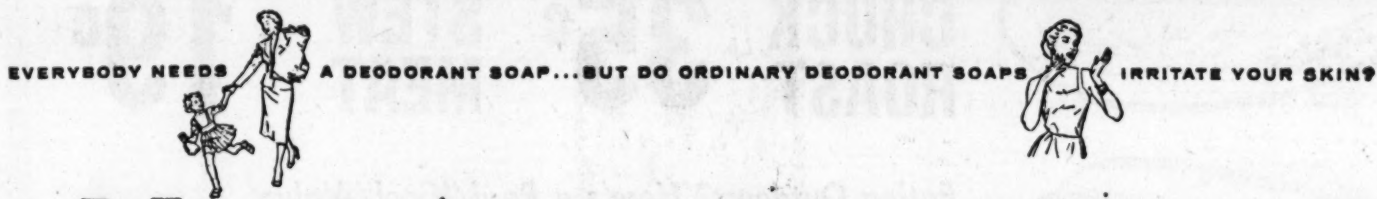

BIG SAVING OVER GROUND COFFEE!

This large size jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn saves you up to 60¢ over 2 pounds of ground coffee. That, plus this Special Label "20¢ Off" sale, makes a total saving of up to 80¢.

FLAVOR AND SAVINGS SECRET!

Our exclusive "Natural Flavor" process starts with the choicest coffees freshly ground. Then our modern scientific equipment brews them to capture all their rich, full flavor. In this way we actually get many more cups from every pound—more than you can possibly get from any home method of brewing ground coffee.

Result: 100% pure coffee in modern instant form—with only the water removed. You save tremendously over ground coffee.

Now! A deodorant soap that protects completely yet is gentle to your skin!

CREAMADE deodorant soap
Is kind to your skin because
It contains rich cold cream

At last there's a deodorant soap so gentle to the skin you can use it with confidence day after day. It's creamy-white Creamade, the only soap that combines the most effective deodorant known with soothing, smoothing cold cream!

Creamade gives you complete head-to-toe protection from body odors, because Creamade contains famous hexachlorophene. It's the odorless, invisible substance that kills 95% of the skin bacteria that cause unpleasant body odors and many complexion troubles too. Hexachlorophene does not merely mask odors. It removes their cause. And because it clings to your skin—does not rinse or wipe away—it gives you hours of protection!

As it deodorizes, Creamade soothes your skin with rich cold cream. It gives you a beauty treatment every time you wash or bathe. It helps your skin retain the wonderful natural skin oils washed away by ordinary soaps. When you use Creamade, your skin stays soft, smooth and lovely!

Creamade is the soap for active moderns. It keeps you fresh even on busiest days. Get Creamade in its gold foil wrap next time you shop, at super-markets and grocery stores.

MEMO TO MEN: It's just good business to use a deodorant soap. And the hexachlorophene in Creamade is the most effective deodorant known. Use Creamade regularly in tub or shower, and you'll never offend at work or play.

And you'll like using Creamade. Its light floral scent is clean and fresh, not a heavy perfume. And the cold cream in Creamade makes your skin feel wonderful. Try it and see what a difference it makes!

salts. They are invaluable for sparking up bland cheeses, especially when no change of texture is desired. One and one-half teaspoons garlic salt, combined with a 3-ounce package of cream cheese, 2 tablespoons of cream for added moisture and a sprinkling of ground black pepper, for example, makes a delicious spread.

Wafers and Cheese Spread Dress Summer Fruit Salads

Brighten summer meals and lighten summertime kitchen chores with this refreshing salad-dessert.

Chilled fresh fruits, delicately flavored cinnamon-cream cheese spread, and crisp rye wafers make a temptingly cool combination that plays a double role on warm weather menus. It's an appetizing and colorful salad and—thanks to the "just enough" sweetness of the cheese spread—it's a satisfying dessert, too.

The subtly spiced cream cheese combined with the whole grain flavor and crisp texture of the rye wafers makes a perfect accompaniment for summer fruits. Use the fresh fruits your family likes best, or try this—fill juicy peach halves with blueberries and red raspberries, garnish with mint leaves. Add a bit of sparkle to the serving plates with individual cups for the cheese spread. The cups are easily made by pressing 3-inch squares of aluminum foil over the bottom of a small glass.

Ease of preparation, good looks, and luscious flavor are not the only advantages of this salad-dessert. There's plenty of nourishment in the crisp rye wafers and in the fresh fruit—easy-to-eat foods that appeal to lagging summer appetites.

CINNAMON-CREAM CHEESE SPREAD

Luscious Use of Leftover Poultry

Use leftover chicken or turkey this way. Put a layer of drained canned asparagus in a shallow heatproof dish; add a layer of thinly sliced chicken or turkey; top with cream sauce and a generous sprinkling of grated Parmesan or cheddar cheese. Widow Hit By Intruder After Estate

A 60-year-old Atlanta widow was severely beaten and choked Thursday by a man who forced an entrance into her West End home in an attempt to rob her of money left by her husband, police said.

Mrs. Mae Cobb of 1429 Venetian Dr., SW, was admitted to the Grady Hospital emergency clinic with two severe head wounds and suffering from shock. The incident occurred shortly after noon within six blocks of the residence of Police Chief Herbert Jenkins.

BUSY CANNING

Mrs. Cobb, whose husband died recently, was busy canning in the kitchen when she thought she overheard someone at the front door. As she started to the door, she said, the man stepped out from behind the kitchen door, seized her and began choking her.

When Mrs. Cobb attempted to scream, the man struck her over the head with a milk bottle, shattering the bottle and inflicting a two-inch gash over the left eye. Ptl. O. L. Kilpatrick and Ptl. L. F. Harris said.

Then, dragging the half-conscious woman to the back porch, he said: "I want the money left you."

ANOTHER BOTTLE

Mrs. Cobb told police the man seized another bottle on the porch and struck her on the right side of the face. Then he fled.

A man answering the description of the assailant was taken into custody on a trolley at McDaniel and Peters streets, SW, a short while later, patrolmen said. The name of the suspect was withheld pending a more thorough investigation.

Greer Pegs Race On 10-Year Duty As a Legislator

Rep. John Greer of Lakeland Thursday night based his campaign for lieutenant-governor on his 10 years of experience in the Legislature.

"I feel my legislative experience fits me to fill this legislative job of presiding over the Senate," Greer said in an appearance over WSB-TV.

Greer also said he would cooperate with whomever the people elect as governor and with that successful candidate's platform. He said that as a legislator, he had demonstrated his cooperative spirit with three governors on progressive legislation. He added that his record showed his interest in education, welfare, health, and highways.

MISSING—Don L. West, Spartanburg, S.C., newsman who came to Atlanta Wednesday for a medical examination, disappeared Thursday morning from a downtown hotel. He has a case record of amnesia and is believed to be suffering from amnesia. Anyone seeing West is asked to notify Atlanta police. He is 49 years old, 155 pounds, is partially deaf, and has a mole on the right side of his neck.

Couple Finds Peace Writ Can Wait

A husky, six-foot-tall Negro man Thursday walked up to R. E. Jones, investigator for the city attorney's office, and Patrolman J. C. Tiller at Decatur and Butler streets, SE.

"Could you please tell me how to get a peace warrant?" he asked.

Told that such warrants were issued at the courthouse, he hesitated for a moment.

"Is it too late to get one today?" he wanted to know.

Jones said the courthouse was already closed. Then he went on to explain that if a person were attacked he could call the police to the scene and have him arrested without a warrant.

"Whom are you afraid of?" Jones asked.

"Nobody," the man replied promptly.

Grinning sheepishly, he indicated a frail woman who stood listening 10 feet away.

"It's her," he said. "She wants a peace warrant against me."

Jones suggested they both go home, behave themselves and forget about warrants. Both nodded and walked away.

LAKE SWIMMERS Unofficial, But Boy! the Water's Fine

An ambitious but unidentified recreation-minded citizen has set up—without official consent—a flourishing swimming business at a lake in Fulton County's Botanical Gardens. Embarrassed county officials have requested an investigation of the matter.

County Manager A. E. Fuller was requested to check into the situation after county commissioners learned the swimming business, complete with concessions and life guards, was in full swing at the lake.

Commissioner Archie Lindsey said he learned both a boy and girl lifeguards are posted at the lake, and that swimmers pay for protection by contributing to a "kitty."

"I heard that they once collected as high as $27," he said.

Lindsey said he visited the lake, located off Gordon Road, SW, near the county airport, at 1 a.m. early this week and the lake was "as crowded as the pool at Piedmont Park."

County Attorney Harold Sheats said the situation developed after the commission passed a resolution prohibiting swimming at places unprotected by lifeguards. The resolution, which also requires a permit for swimming at the lake, was posted at the gardens.

Before the resolution was passed, the county had little trouble with night swimmers at the lake, Sheats said, "but now they're swarming out there."

House Okays Jobless Pay for 4 Million More

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—The House passed a bill today to extend unemployment insurance benefits to 4,000,000 more workers.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, was approved 309 to 36 after the House rejected several Democratic moves to liberalize the program still further.

The Democrats called it a "feeble" answer to the problem.

The bill, first major extension of the unemployment insurance plan since its inception in 1933, would entitle 2,500,000 federal workers to jobless benefits.

It also would bring into the program 1,300,000 workers in firms with four or more employees.

Knoxville Negroes Ask Mixed Schools

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 8 (AP)—Seven Negro families today asked the city school board to admit their children to white schools.

The families called on the board to "take immediate steps to reorganize the public schools" in accordance with the Supreme Court ruling banning racial segregation in public schools.

A spokesman for the Negroes said a similar petition will be filed with the county education board in about a week.

School officials said there are about 3,500 Negro students in the city and 300 in the county system.

State Workers Used to Politic?

By M. L. ST. JOHN

The charge that state employees are being used in political campaigns is being made again this year—against the same official customarily accused of it. Labor Commissioner Ben T. Huie, running for re-election, is the accused, and he makes a qualified admission.

Oddly enough, the accuser this year is J. E. B. Stewart, who, 14 years ago, admitted that he helped raise campaign funds from Labor Department employees to elect Huie. Stewart is the other candidate for labor commissioner. Both Huie and Stewart are Atlantans.

Georgia's most effective campaigner, Huie carried all 159 counties in 1950 against Johnny Goodwin. There are no indications that Stewart will upset Huie this year. The incumbent already has covered nearly half the state with a handshaking campaign, even before any opposition was anticipated. He runs a "scared" race more than any other incumbent.

The Labor Department, under Huie since 1937, has been an efficiently operated organization, winning state and national attention.

But, for 14 years, Huie has been continually charged with using state employees in political campaigns.

In 1942, the United States Civil Service Commission charged that Labor Commissioner Huie, Stewart, who was director of the un-

Matron Sues C. of Ga. For $65,000 Damages

A $65,000 damage suit has been filed against the Central of Georgia Railway in Fulton Superior Court asking compensation for injuries and incapacitation suffered by a 22-year-old woman when, the petition claims, she was struck by a locomotive.

The petitioner, listed as Mrs. Marjory Foster Stone of 512 W. John Wesley Ave., College Park, suffered injuries "of a permanent character" to the brain, vertebrae and pubic bone in the mishap; the petition alleges.

The petition says Mrs. Stone was struck about 9 p.m., Jan. 6, as she crossed railroad tracks from a trolley stop on Lee Street, SW.

employment compensation division then, and Marion O'Connor, then head of the employment service, conspired to violate the Hatch Act. Huie said he had nothing to do with soliciting campaign funds from his employees. Stewart said he asked the contributions on a voluntary basis, and insisted that no contribution be accepted from employees making less than $150 per month. The commission ousted Stewart and O'Connor. A federal court trial of Huie ended in a mistrial, and a year later the case was dropped.

NEAR RIVALS IN '46

Stewart and Huie almost opposed each other in a political race in 1946. Huie considered running for Congress—Stewart did run. Huie was re-elected commissioner. In this campaign, however, Huie again was charged with using state employees in a political campaign. Terry Busbee claimed he was fired for failing to aid Huie, but the commissioner said he removed Busbee for inefficiency. The federal government looked into the matter. The State Merit Board upheld Huie's removal of Busbee, but censured the commissioner for giving Busbee pay raises while, at the same time, stating Busbee was inefficient.

The charge of using state employees in political races was level at Huie again in 1950. Johnny Goodwin, opposing Huie for re-election, made the charge. E. S. Mitchem, employee of the factory division, was seen handing out Huie literature at Watkinsville—and Mitchem declared he was helping re-elect Huie because "Ben Huie's given me my meat and bread for nine years." The factory division is not protected by the merit system.

"WHITE KNIGHT?" Now, as the campaign begins this year, Jeb Stewart, who is no white knight in shining armor, opens up with a charge that Huie is using Labor Department employees in his campaign. Huie replied that he positively isn't using employees covered by the merit system. However, he added that some workers not under the merit system are to be used in political campaigns.

It will be interesting to see whether these state employees take a leave-of-absence without pay while politicking . . . or whether they confine their activities to their own, not state, time.

Why does Huie mix some state workers in political campaigns? He gives the answer frankly—patronage:

"These certain people are not protected by the merit system," he said. "If a new commissioner comes into office, he will replace these people with his own friends. Since their jobs, like mine, depend upon my re-election, I think it is all right for them to try to protect our jobs."

In Southwestern United States many modern buildings have walls fashioned of bricks made of mud and straw much like those mentioned in the Bible.

CONSTIPATED?

John W. Forister of Memphis, Tenn., shares his discovery of relief with you!

"I think the whole world should know how I finally got relief from constipation! Especially since I tried so many laxatives and didn't get the relief I wanted!"

"I bought a bottle of Sal Hepatica at the drugstore one day on a friend's suggestion. And the next time I had that logy, headachy feeling due to constipation, I took a glass of sparkling Sal Hepatica. Took it half an hour before supper like the label said to. And, by bedtime, believe me, I really felt swell!"

Yes, take Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens your stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

Alpharetta Boy Cops 4-H Pasture Contest

A six-acre pasture program won a $40 award and the 1953-54 4-H Club northwest Georgia district pasture championship for Jerry Cox, 17, of Alpharetta.

The Fulton County 4-H'er, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Cox, grazed 22 animals on a pasture of orchard grass, fescue, clover, oats, rye and lespedeza for 240 days—a total of 4,950 grazing days.

Jerry reported a 200-pound gain per animal and added that he cut 285 bales of hay from the six acres in addition to the grazing use.

Young Cox and Fulton County Agent S. D. Truitt estimated net value of the pasture at $1,029. Total expenses in establishing the six-acre plot were $261.05.

Five other northwest pasture winners announced by District Agent W. A. King were: Harold Scott, Troup County, second, $30; Harvey Ritch, Paulding, third, $25; Allen Thames, Clayton, fourth, $20; Carl Head Jr., DeKalb, fifth, $15; and Billy Don Smith, Cobb, sixth, $10.

As district champion, young

Cox is competing with other first-place winners for state awards including a $250 college scholarship and a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, a $150 scholarship and an $80 scholarship.

French officials estimate that that about 350,000 Frenchmen now live outside the country compared to about 800,000 businessmen, teachers, missionaries; engineers and others who lived outside the country in 1914.

A WEEKLY ADVERTISING COLUMN OF THINGS NEW AND INTERESTING

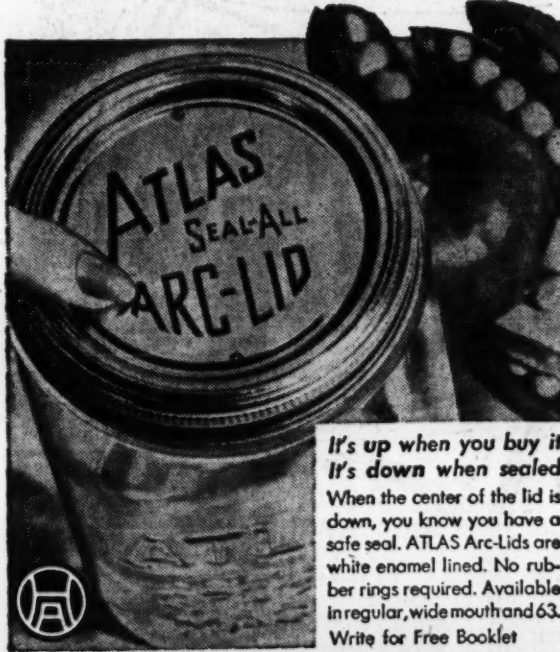

New York, July 8—Cook-outs can be rained out . . . yet you can still enjoy luscious "charcoal" broiled meats right from your indoor kitchen! How? Simply by brushing your steaks, chops or hamburgers with KITCHEN BOUQUET before cooking . . . and popping them into the oven! You'll want to "charcoal" broil like this regularly, too . . . for you'll love that crisp, crusty "charcoal" crust outside and all the savory meat juices that are sealed in! And you'll find as I have that KITCHEN BOUQUET reduces costly meat shrinkage . . . helps you get more meat for your money! KITCHEN BOUQUET also makes the richest, brownest, most delicious gravy you ever tasted.

CHASE AWAY THOSE CLOUDS of doubt during those "troublesome" days of the month . . . and depend on TAMPAX for sanitary protection. If you do, you can enjoy more freedom and peace of mind . . . since TAMPAX is worn and absorbs internally, there are no bulky belt-pin-pads to keep you from swimming . . . no edge lines to give your secret away . . . and no chafing or odor either! In fact, TAMPAX is the coolest, most comfortable kind of protection you can use . . . can be worn in swimming, tub or shower, and is invisible when worn under your briefest shorts and snugest frocks. So "next time" use TAMPAX . . . in your choice of Regular, Super or Junior absorbency-sizes.

COUNTING CALORIES? Well, it's important to count your vitamins, too . . . so if I were you, I'd turn down ordinary "refreshers" and drink delicious, cooling FLORIDA Grapefruit Juice instead! That's because this lively-tasting juice is low in calories but high in the pep-producing Vitamin C you need every day . . . especially in enervating hot weather. FLORIDA Grapefruit Juice is also the best way I know to appease active appetites . . . for it's naturally sweet and completely satisfies that empty feeling. So be happy and stay healthy when you watch your weight . . . by making FLORIDA Grapefruit Juice your summertime refreshment. Comes canned and frozen.

MY IDEA of the perfect cooling conclusion to hot weather meals is Frozen Dessert . . . and I make it the quick, easy, economical way! In other words, I use "JUNKET" BRAND FREEZING MIX with fresh or evaporated milk . . . according to the directions on the package. "JUNKET" FREEZING MIX makes real ice cream, too . . . rich and velvety-smooth . . . with old-fashioned hand-freezer goodness . . . but without the work! Just whip "JUNKET" FREEZING MIX into milk and cream . . . your refrigerator does the rest. And I know you'll love these 4 delicious flavors . . . Vanilla, Strawberry, Chocolate and Black Raspberry. Get them all . . . and serve them often!
